Iraqi Air Force Hits Back As Army Revolt Spreads

Conflicting Claims Fly On Uprising

One Report States That Rebel Chief Is Slain By Own Men

DAMASCUS (AP) — The Iraqi Air Force today bombed the North Iraq center of an army rebellion against Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's Communist-influenced regime. But the rebel radio continued to hurl defiance at the premier in Baghdad.

Broadcasts by the rebel radio in Mosul, the starting point of the revolt, and by the government station in Baghdad were the chief sources of information on the progress of the revolt. Conflicting claims alternated as the day advanced.

Kassem's regime in Baghdad claimed that the rebel leader, Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf, had been slain by his own men. A later rebel broadcast confirmed that government planes were bombing Mosul but said this would not interfere with rebel activities. It added that Shawaf was leading the struggle against Kassem.

A subsequent rebel broadcast told the Iraqi people not to believe the report of Shawaf's death.

"The revolution leader, Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf, is still at the head of his troops to crush traitors and enemies of the people," it said. It added that the bobardment of Moscul "will not stop the revolution."

Still later a man who said he was Shawaf went on the Mosul radio to deny he had been killed. He said all reports by Baghdad radio were "lies aimed at misleading the people" and that the "dictatorial rule of Kassem is about to collapse."

Both stations indicated, however that army officers considered sympathetic to President Nasser of the United Arab Republic were trying to topple Kassem, who headed the army revolt against the pro-Western monarchy last July.

Baghdad radio first claimed that Shawaf was fleeing toward the Syrian border, and promised a $28,000 reward for him dead or alive.

The rebel radio in turn said still later that Kassem's regime had "almost collapsed." There was no mention of anything happening to Shawaf.

A government broadcast said loyal troops were in complete control of Mosul. "These are our loyal troops and people," the rebel radio replied. "They now control Mosul and soon will control Baghdad."

At the same time the Mosul radio appeared to temper earlier claims that the rebels controlled all of north Iraq. A broadcast appealed to army units in the north Iraq oil center of Kirkuk as well as in the capital to aid in "destroying the tyrant Kassem."

Quoting the military governor general of Iraq, Ahmed Saleh Elabdi, Baghdad radio said Shawaf has been killed by his own officers and soldiers after his headquarters, presumably in Mosul, was bombed by the Iraqi air force.

"The situation is quiet all over Iraq and security prevails," the government radio said.

Final Week Of 60-Day Session

West Virginia Legislators Wait Senate Finance Bill

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee's version of the West Virginia budget for the next fiscal year was expected to be sent to the floor today as the legislature began the final week of its 60-day session.

Indications were the Senate finance bill would call for about 117 million dollars in general revenue appropriations for the fiscal year which starts July 1.

That would be 8½ million above the current year's appropriations. It also would be 4½ million above the budget bill sent to the floor Saturday by the House Finance Committee.

One item accounted for about two million dollars of the anticipated spread between the Senate and the House bills. In addition to the regular school aid appropriation, Senate Finance planned to include a two million-dollar item as a spur to local school support.

The money would be allocated on the basis of $5 per pupil to counties which go the limit on excess property tax levies for schools.

A substantial spread between the bills sent out by the two committees is customary. It gives elbow room to the conference committee which will have to work out a compromise between the two versions before the end of the week.

Even the less costly House bill counts on some tax legislation that has not been finally enacted by both chambers.

At amendment stage on the House calendar along with the budget bill today was a tax measure that would put the House budget in the black.

The tax bill would draw upon the gross sales tax for an additional $3,300,000 a year. Rates would go up for 12 of the 21 categories of business and industry now paying the gross sales tax.

Long afternoons were ahead for both houses when they convened at 2 p. m.

The House had up for adoption a constitutional amendment proposal which represented an attempt at a further step in giving counties more freedom in voting taxes for schools.

Last November the state's voters approved an amendment to let counties vote five-year excess levies for schools at 100 per cent above regular property tax levy rates. The former limits were three years and 50 per cent.

Under the new limits, as under the old, a majority of 60 per cent in a special election is required to approve an excess levy.

The resolution before the House today would submit to the voters in 1960 the question of lowering the margin required for approval to a simple majority—anything over 50 per cent of those voting.

Policy Tours Are Launched By Macmillan

Paris First Stop By British Premier In Talks With Allies

PARIS (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today begins a swing around the capitals of his major allies in search of a Western policy to take into negotiations with the Soviets.

In East Berlin, meanwhile, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev scheduled a surprise meeting with West German Socialist patry leader Erich Ollenhauer and continued talking with East German leaders about the Red campaign to drive the Western Allies out of West Berlin.

Paris was Macmillan's first stop to report to President Charles de Gaulle on his talks in Moscow with Khrushchev. The prime minister returns to London Tuesday night and flies Thursday to Bonn to give West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a fill-in. On March 19 he arrives in Washington to go over the Western views with President Eisenhower.

At the end of his tour, Macmillan said Sunday, he hopes the West will have concerted "a policy which will be firm and yet flexible enough to reach a successful conclusion of any negotiations."

The British, French, West German and U.S. governments all are agreed that they must stand firm against Khrushchev's threat to push the Western Allies out of West Berlin. But they still must work out proposals with which to counter the Soviet threat to write a separate peace treaty with East Germany and give the East German regime control of the Allied supply routes to Berlin.

One of the biggest problems facing Macmillan is the doubt in the minds of Adenauer and De Gaulle about his views on arms reduction in central Europe.

At the conclusion of their Moscow talks, Macmillan and Khrushchev agreed that negotiations on reduction of both conventional and nuclear arms in a zone through central Europe might produce a start toward disarmament. This smacks to the French and West German governments of disengagement, the proposal to withdraw all forces a certain distance back from both sides of the Iron Curtain. Both Adenauer and De Gaulle oppose any such idea.

In West Germany, meanwhile, the news that Socialist party chairman Ollenhauer had accepted an invitation to meet Khrushchev caused a sensation.

Despite Ike's Assurance

Democrats Urge More U.S. Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democrats are renewing their demands for stepped-up U.S. military power despite President Eisenhower's assurance no more is needed to meet the crisis over Berlin.

Eisenhower met Friday with Senate and House leaders of both parties. He reportedly told them that there is nothing he wants Congress to do now to beef up U.S. military might. They said they were told the tools needed to deal with the threat to Berlin have been provided.

But numerous Democrats spoke out during the weekend for more spending and greater military preparedness for longer range developments, even as they expressed hope that negotiations will settle the Berlin situation this summer.

Democratic leaders are going ahead quietly with plans to make available up to 750 million dollars more than Eisenhower asked for intercontinental missiles.

While this step is being initiated in the House, a Senate Preparedness subcommittee, headed by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, will be engaged in a thorough-going reassessment of defense strength.

Out of these hearings, which start this week, may come recommendations to halt an ordered cutback in the Army from 900,000 to 870,000 men and in the Marine Corps from 200,000 to 175,00 men by June 3.

Democrats who attended the White House conferences did not go as far as some of their party colleagues in open challenge to Eisenhower's assessment of military needs. Nevertheless, some of them said they feel the armed forces should be strengthened.

'Reservations' Aired By Military Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heads of the military services have detailed for Congress the reservations they had in saying there were no serious gaps in key elements of President Eisenhower's defense budget.

Some of the reservations are costly, but totals were not listed.

When the $40,945,000,000 military budget was presented, the Senate Preparedness subcommittee received a statement signed by all four service chiefs and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining. The statement put the military men on record as saying the budget was adequate to provide essential programs.

While the chiefs said then they found no serious gaps, all of them said they had reservations concerning the financing of some parts of their own service programs. The Senate group asked them to spell out the reservations.

These were the recent replies:

ARMY—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, said modernization of equipment was the Army's most pressing need; he also asked more money to start producing Nike-Zeus antimissile missiles and said the Army needed more money to support more men and to buy more antiaircraft missiles than the budget provided.

NAVY — Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, asked more money to maintain and modernize ships and airplanes; approval to build more ships, aircraft and missiles; a speed-up of antisubmarine warfare preparations; procurement of more Polaris ballistic missiles and the submarines needed to carry and launch them.

AIR FORCE — Gen. Thomas White, Air Force chief of staff, asked more money than the budget allowed for replacement of B47 medium jet bombers by new B58 supersonic bombers; advocated immediate start on construction of a prototype aircraft that would be powered by a nuclear engine (here he differed with the administration which has not spent money available for that purpose); and expressed concern over reductions in money for production of Bomarc antiaircraft missiles.

MARINES—Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, Marine Corps commandant, asked for more Marines; he said the corps should be maintained at about 200,000 instead of being cut to 175,000 as the budget provides; asked more Navy ships capable of handling amphibious operations; more combat aircraft for the Marines; and more money to replace deteriorating facilities.

Both Spaite and the other truck driver were burned to death in their cabs. Spaite had been driving about 10 days for the Herron transfer Co. of Salem.

He was born in East Palestine, Nov. 12, 1924, the son of Bryan and Mabel Sheets, 698 W. Martin St. He attended East Palestine schools and formerly was employed as an oiler for the Burt Coal Co. of near Rogers.

Besides his parents, he leaves his wife, the former Miss Betty Burt, and four children, Dennis Spaite, Robert Spaite, Diane Spaite and Sheryl Spaite, all at home; one brother, Glenn Spaite of Route 14, East Palestine, and one sister, Mrs. Park Grim, also of East Palestine.

The Van Dyke Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements, which are pending.

Trucker And Motorist Cited After 2 Mishaps

A Washington, Pa., trucker and a Chester motorist were cited by Hancock County sheriff's deputies following separate accidents over the weekend.

Ross Huffman, 63, the Pennsylvania trucker, was arrested for failure to have his vehicle under control after it rammed into a car and upset at the west intersection of Routes 2 and 30 near Chester at 11:20 p. m. Sunday.

Deputies said the trucker hit an auto operated by Roy Paparodis, 45, of Salem, and then overturned, causing a traffic tieup for three hours. Huffman was injured slightly, they said.

Also involved in the mishap was a third car, driven by Blaine Allison, 19, of 816 Neptune Ave., Chester. All three vehicles were heading west.

The truck of the Pennsylvania driver was demolished, while Paparodis' auto was damaged to the extent of $500, deputies said. None of the drivers were injured seriously. Paparodis was attempting a left turn when the accident occured, according to the sheriff's office.

The auto of Adolph Smusz, 35, of Fairview St., Chester was damaged when he failed to negotiate a turn south of New Cumberland

Juror Seating Ends In Trial Of Ex-Officer

Selection of a Common Pleas Court jury was completed late this morning at Lisbon in the trial of Ira Cunningham, ex-city policeman charged with attempting to bribe a prospective juror.

Cunningham, found guilty of a 1952 burglary of the Burbick Hardware Store in November, was indicted by the recalled September Grand Jury for attempting to bribe Donald Lockhart of 6th St. and Dresden Ave., who had been summoned as a juror in the Burbick trial, but did not serve.

The bribery trial was slated to start last Monday but was continued because of the illness of Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, Cunningham's counsel.

Opening statements are expected this afternoon by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw and Atty. Alexander. Judge Joel H. Sharp is presiding.

In questioning prospective jurors this morning, Atty. Alexander asked if they would be prejudiced against the defendant if he were to establish he had lost his memory concerning facts in the case.

Cunningham was hospitalized at Wheeling in late November after he became ill and apparently could not recall various aspects of the time of the burglary trial.

The jury was seated at 11:55 a. m. It includes five women and seven men. Members of the panel are:

Adeline Barlow, 420 Grant St., Clara Thorne, 1908 Michigan Ave., both East Liverpool; Floreine Broderick, 968 Main St., Wells-

Would Revise Foreign Aid

Economic Group Suggests Easing Of Monetary Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic members of the Senate-House Economic Committee called today for easing of governmental monetary controls and revision of foreign aid, farm aid and other major government programs.

Republicans, criticizing what they called the "partisan political tone" of the report, generally supported President Eisenhower's economic and fiscal policies.

But the committee members split within as well as along party lines in their findings on the annual economic message Eisenhower sent to Congress in January. Lengthy hearings on the message have been held.

Three Democratic House members, Reps. Wright Patman (Tex), Hale Boggs (La) and Henry S. Reuss (Wis), filed separate statements supplementing the majority report prepared under the direction of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill).

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) differed with some portions of the principal minority reported submitted by Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn).

The committee members appeared to agree that 1959 will be a relatively prosperous year, with general stability in prices.

Pointing to the millions of unemployed, the Democratic majority said a goal of maximum employment "should be given the highest priority."

But the republicans said inflation offers the gravest threat to continued economic growth and expansion, including full employment.

The Democratic majority said "restrictive monetary and credit" policies would discourage employment and injure state and local governments, as well as small business.

It questioned adequacy of the new proposed 41-billion-dollar defense budget and protested manpower cutbacks in the Army and Marine Corps.

It suggested revamping of foreign aid to meet the expanding Soviet economic competition in inderdeveloped areas.

The farm program of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, stressing lower price supports, was termed a failure with a suggestion that the nation should "rethink our farm program" with emphasis upon the family-sized farm.

The Republicans agreed that Congress should reconsider the entire farm program, but neither they nor the Democratic members offered specific suggestions.

Javits, in his separate statement, urged a middle-of-the-road course on such projects as housing, airports, depressed areas, and health.

Rep. Boggs, in his individual statement, told fellow Democrats he could not agree with their "blanket endorsement" of some specific programs.

3 Draw Fines Of $100 In Chester Poker Raid

Two men arrested in a raid on a poker game in Chester Feb. 3 were fined $100 and costs each by Mayor Burton Ward of Chester Saturday and a third who had previously pleaded not guilty changed his plea and received a similar fine. A fourth man forfeited a $105 bond.

Joseph Anderson, 23, of Newell and John Charles Hayes, 20, of Carolina Ave., Chester, were fined for wagering on a game of cards, a gambling charge stemming from the early morning raid on the 600 Bar.

Francis L. McCune, 36, of East Liverpool, who had been fined $125 and costs at an earlier hearing, changed his plea to guilty Saturday and his fine was reduced to $100 and costs. Keith E. Miller, 26, of Smiths Ferry failed to appear for a hearing and forfeited his bond.

Three Democratic House members, Reps. Wright Patman (Tex), Hale Boggs (La) and Henry S. Reuss (Wis), filed separate statements supplementing the majority report prepared under the direction of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill).

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) differed with some portions of the principal minority reported submitted by Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn).

The committee members appeared to agree that 1959 will be a relatively prosperous year, with general stability in prices.

Pointing to the millions of unemployed, the Democratic majority said a goal of maximum employment "should be given the highest priority."

But the republicans said inflation offers the gravest threat to continued economic growth and expansion, including full employment.

The Democratic majority said "restrictive monetary and credit" policies would discourage employment and injure state and local governments, as well as small business.

It questioned adequacy of the new proposed 41-billion-dollar defense budget and protested manpower cutbacks in the Army and Marine Corps.

It suggested revamping of foreign aid to meet the expanding Soviet economic competition in inderdeveloped areas.

The farm program of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, stressing lower price supports, was termed a failure with a suggestion that the nation should "rethink our farm program" with emphasis upon the family-sized farm.

The Republicans agreed that Congress should reconsider the entire farm program, but neither they nor the Democratic members offered specific suggestions.

Javits, in his separate statement, urged a middle-of-the-road course on such projects as housing, airports, depressed areas, and health.

Rep. Boggs, in his individual statement, told fellow Democrats he could not agree with their "blanket endorsement" of some specific programs.

Two men arrested in a raid on a poker game in Chester Feb. 3 were fined $100 and costs each by Mayor Burton Ward of Chester Saturday and a third who had previously pleaded not guilty changed his plea and received a similar fine. A fourth man forfeited a $105 bond.

Francis L. McCune, 36, of East Liverpool, who had been fined $125 and costs at an earlier hearing, changed his plea to guilty Saturday and his fine was reduced to $100 and costs. Keith E. Miller, 26, of Smiths Ferry failed to appear for a hearing and forfeited his bond.

Plenty To Uncover In State Liquor Board

Gov. DiSalle is sure to have fertile ground for study when he digs into the operations of the State Liquor Board.

It is certain that too many bad eggs have been allowed to exist in the state's basket of permit holders. The vast majority of businesses that dispense liquor have operated honestly and within the law. The relatively few exceptions — the bad eggs — have been permitted too often to retain their permits despite indications they did not intend to abide fully by the regulations.

The State Liquor Department's enforcement arm has done a relatively good job under the last three governors. It has found violations and inflicted punishment. But in too many cases the board itself, acting as a court of appeal, has erased the punishment and allowed the violators to continue operating and sometimes continue violating the regulations.

IN OTHER CASES, violators who have been unsuccessful before the liquor board have appealed to Franklin County Common Pleas Court at Columbus and been restored their permits.

The setup has not been good.

Ohio's liquor laws were framed to provide certain individuals and business with the right to retail liquor, wine and beer. No one but a permit holder can do it legally. The liquor department's regulations safeguard the public and the permit holder on such things as hours of sale, prohibition of gambling or other law violations and operating decently with respect to maintaining order and refusing to serve intoxicated persons.

When the regulations are violated, the permit holder should be punished or removed from the business. Gov. DiSalle wants to know why violations have not been dealt with adequately in all cases.

TWO PRACTICES that most obviously need correction are (1) the too-frequent tendency for the board to overrule the liquor department on penalties and (2) the custom of assigning court appeals to Franklin County.

Columbus was chosen as the locale for court hearings as a convenience to the liquor board members. Each case, however, should be heard in the county of its origin, where prosecution and defense both can marshal their forces best.

That's the way it is with other court cases. That's the way it should be with liquor violations.

George Meany Has A Big Idea

A proposal by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, for a new congressional inquiry into the extent of official corruption, to offset the impression of corrupt unionism made by the McClellan investigation, is worth a second and third thought.

Everybody who has kept informed about improper practices in labor-management relations knows there has been a serious failure of local law enforcement behind many of the practices. Police departments have looked the other way.

President Meany has a big idea when he suggests that a searching inquiry into this dereliction of duty would show that corruption has not been confined to the bully-boys of unionism by any means. But it is not to be imagined that his accusation will be accepted by law enforcers in good grace.

They will point, in turn, to the political pressures exerted on police departments. And if the real source of the pressures were to be tracked down, it would be the demonstrated power of labor leaders to make and break politicians. That once was the subject of another Senate investigation before the beginning of the McClellan committee — the famed Kefauver committee that investigated crime.

THE KEFAUVER COMMITTEE disclosed the connection between shady unionism, organized crime and big politics. It picked tentatively at evidence that the Mafia had more power of decision over important matters in this country than the police power that supposedly controls strong-arm outfits like the Mafia.

It showed, as the McClellan committee was to show later, that there is an underworld conspiracy that preys on unions, business, individuals and even on political parties.

Unfortunately, the Senate never knew what to make of the information gathered by the Kefauver investigators. It does not seem to know what to do with the information gathered by the McClellan investigators, either. It seems to be waiting in the latter instance for someone like Mr. Meany to tell it to go ahead — that the AFL-CIO wants to be cleaned up and kept clean with the cooperation of law authorities.

It has been given a modified go-ahead signal. AFL-CIO has approved the Kennedy-Ervin bill. If it would approve the abolition of some of union labor's more inexcusable practices specified in the administration bill on the same subject, labor reform could become an actuality in 1959.

Every police department in the United States then would know how the political wind was blowing — that it had become politically safe to enforce the law against bully boys in labor the same as bully boys anywhere else.

But Is The Customer Always Right?

The steel industry never poured out production at its current high rate before, and for weeks to come records will continue to fall. The feast that everybody knew would come after the famine is in full swing.

A year ago, however, the famine was starting, and some things about it are not easily forgotten.

Steel experts hammered with all the logic they could muster on the theme that their customers were using up inventories past the point of safety.

Spokesmen for the industry pointed time and again to hand-to-mouth buying as proof that steel users were being shortsighted and would regret it when demand for steel sharpened.

Potential customers were warned they would be unable to get prompt delivery when inventories finally were exhausted completely and all of them piled on one another for quick supplies.

Employers in the steel industry were forced to tell their employes with what grace they could muster that shortsightedness on the part of customers was forcing an unnaturally aggravated slump in jobs.

There was not a single aspect of the steel picture in 1958 that made good sense to the steel industry and its employes. It was no comfort, either, to know that about this time in 1959 the spokesmen who had been pleading with customers of the industry to be moderate in inventory reduction would be able to sigh, "I told you so."

Everybody wants steel now.

To the extent that some of the steel they want could have been ordered months ago when the mills were more than half closed down for lack of business, the rush is hard to rationalize.

Steel is not a seasonal industry — not by any stretch of the imagination. Yet, during 1958 and even during the first weeks of 1959 it was unnaturally and unreasonably quiet because the customers who are "always right" were persisting in an attitude that did not make good sense.

Vocational Talks

The annual vocational guidance conference got under way today at East Liverpool High School.

They serve a sound purpose, with those in the various lines of business sitting down and talking things over with the students. Some of the advice may prove of slight value, but most should be of a constructive nature helpful to those trying to make up their minds about the future.

As we try to point out each year, student participation is the key to the success or failure of the conferences.

Without an active and sincere interest by the students, little of any lasting benefit can be achieved. An adviser may talk and talk, but if the desire to absorb isn't there on the part of the listener, the effort has been wasted.

So enter your conference room determined to get the most you possibly can out of the 50-minute period. Above all, join in the question-and-answer sessions. If you don't ask, you won't learn.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Thirty-four food experts voted 3-1 that a steak from a tranquilized steer is tastier than one from a nervous, fretful animal.

Now we know why we have had so much trouble with sirloins lately. The ones served us, instead of being docile, were the tense and resisting type.

In too many restaurants steaks are so tough the tranquilizer should be given to the customer along with a sharper knife.

Kansas City chemist says tranquilizer injected into a steer soothes it during the stockyard strain, causing it to lose little weight while other cattle get so fidgety they lose weight and toughen up.

The 34 food experts were served both transquilized and troublesome sirloins in the test. ("Waiter, take this filet mignon back to the kitchen; it's still resisting!")

We have had some hot arguments over steak tenderness recently. The reaction of waiters and chefs to our complaints showed they needed tranquilizers instead of the steers. Certainly when we get the check we were desperately in need of them.

MORTIMER TOPBLOWER wants tests made to determine whether the quality of hamburgers can be influenced by tranquilizers: "The ones I have been getting, especially at roadside lunchrooms, indicate high tension, irritability somewhere and must come from cattle in no mood to make friends," he declares.

He also favors a test of cheeseburgers by 34 food experts. "It's amazing how often a cheeseburger comes out looking so tense, thin and aggressive. I demand action to bring back the calm, undisturbed nonviolent cheeseburger. I got one the other day which made me wonder whether perhaps cheese also needs to be tranquilized," he said.

Will the tranquilizer experiments be extended to lamb, hogs, and chickens?

Mr. Topblower says some of those half-broilers he has been ordering lately are so thin and tough they, too, are clearly victims of tenseness.

Master Of All He Purveys

Is Presidency A Popularity Contest?

By Ralph McGill

There is a feeling in New York which is felt almost psychically by leaders in Tammany Hall and by those who believe political destiny already has touched Gov. Nelson Rockefeller with her wand.

It is that perhaps a majority of the American people presently look upon the presidential campaign as a popularity contest rather than a political one. Nor do they now consider it important that the victorious president shall carry with him in his triumph a majority of the House and Senate.

Time was when the two were viewed as one objective. One elected a president and gave him a working margin in the Congress. This, indeed, was the essence of the two-party system.

But the slow workings of change in America have had an effect on politics as on all other aspects of our national life. The growing industrial populations have made even more sensitive the issue of uninterrupted wages and blurred party principles. The agricultural South, once the stronghold of free trade, now is protective minded as it happily views its increasing census of factories. The Midwest farm bloc's political muscles are matched by those of steel and by fabricating and assembly plants.

These, plus the international dangers requiring a bipartisan approach, are the major factors which have caused so many voters to report they see little difference between the two parties.

THE RECESSION of late 1957 and 1958 caused a great revolt against the Republican party in the election of last November.

But the continuing post mortem into the cadaver of that upheaval reveals that it was not so much a swing to the Democratic party as it was an economically inspired retaliation against the GOP.

The polls all show the president's personal popularity to be high. This is true despite the fact he is not regarded as an especially effective president.

The picklock political pollsters are trying to determine if the people are still in the pendulum swing away from the strong leadership of the Franklin D. Roosevelt years and the positive position of Harry S. Truman.

Certain questions emerge.

Has the image of the presidency changed?

Is it the office to be filled with the winner of a popularity contest, while the Congress does the work of "politics"?

Was this the meaning of the failure of the Republicans to provide Mr. Eisenhower with a real working majority in 1952, when he carried 39 states? And what about 1956 when the Democrats increased their majority and 1958 when they again upped it?

These are questions not yet answered.

OBSERVERS NOTE that labor is having its problems of change. The big mass production unions are experiencing new pains brought on by European resurgency, inflation, automation and what might be called a flight of capital.

Exactly what have we priced out of the market? With five million unemployed, is it wise to push for a 35-hour week?

Union members no longer think of themselves as "labor." This is true in Britain as well as here. Even in West Germany, Italy, France and Belgium, the old "working class" consciousness is becoming middle class in possessions and outlook.

Political scientists at Columbia University, as well as in the party headquarters, believe no one has quite evaluated the fact that the fastest growing working group in America is that labeled "white collar." Even in the mass production factories as the number of men on the assembly line lessens, the employment totals go up in the clerical, computing, technical and lower-echelon "management" jobs.

Everything else in the world is changing. Politics can't escape it.

But what is the net result to be?

No one knows — though studies are being organized and pushed.

Meanwhile, if the presidency is in any substantial degree a popularity contest, and if Nelson Rockefeller wins his bold tax-increase gamble, he will be difficult to stop.

That's an "iffy" conclusion. But there is a lot of "if" in most things these days.

The Old Dime Novel

By Frank Tripp

An oldster, who in the Gay 90's cached the "deadly dime novel" under the wood pile, begs a word on the subject of adult responsibility for juvenile delinquency and child crime.

Nothing that my doting parents did to save me from the cheap literature of the day kept it away from me, or me away from it.

The gaudy paper - covered tales of the West, of crime and intrigue that sold for a dime, were available to any kid with a penny, or with a friend who had a penny.

As long as the flimsy paper would hang together they passed from kid to kid at a penny a reading; or could be had second hand for a nickel or less, according to their horror content or state of delapidation.

THERE existed in almost any neighborhood what amounted to a circulating library of the crime concoctions of perverted hack writers who ground them out by the hundreds a month — the "blood and thunder" that parents fought to keep away from their children.

And today pictured for them in the family living room; even long before they can read.

It is paradoxical that the urge to read such things, in days before the gory details could be pictured in the home, developed a generation of child readers who owe life success to their early ability to read and understand.

They were years ahead of today's kids as readers. They could spell too, and could put their thoughts into written words. This is not defense of what made them want to read.

It is condemnation of an era that actually forces upon the smallest child long before he can read that which parents once fought to keep away from children; plus sex that I cannot remember in any "accursed dime novel." Blood and thunder plenty; sex, no.

NATURE hasn't changed. The juvenile urge for the bizarre is as keen today as 60 years ago. The difference is that adults are not emphasizing the paltry seductive side of the dime novel of the screen; they are glorifying it.

No one can prove that books, sans TV, movies and radio, would not have developed today's surge of vicious juvenile delinquency and crimes by mere children.

Yet hardly a week passes that revolting acts by juveniles don't duplicate crimes that they have seen pictured; even reveal the source of the urge.

As did the upstate lad who took the idea from TV to bed with him, and next morning shot his father, mother, sister and brother.

If nothing more can be said for the stern parenthood that tried to shield its undeveloped children from knowledge of crime and violence, at least it stamped early and indelibly a contrast between right and wrong that sunk deeper into young minds than do so - called "examples that crime does not pay" — a bogus alibi for crime glorification.

Sure, I watch 'em, lots of them; but I never turn off the set that I don't ponder how harmless by comparison, were the "blood and thunder" dog - eared dime novels that my parents never knew I read, and had me convinced that they were vicious. Thus counteracting the bad influence they might have exerted upon me.

Nor do I remember a kid of my dime novel acquaintance who ever committed a vicious act. Now my impressionable great - grandchildren, who won't read with understanding for another five years, see ten times worse at our own fireside.

You bet, I could sometime have something to regret; and should it happen, will deserve my anguish. You too, brother.

'Summit' Of Their Own?

By James Marlow

Khrushchev May Get His Way After All

WASHINGTON — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, temporarily frustrated in his desire for a summit conference, is forcing the Western Allies into a kind of summit meeting of their own.

In the end, by sheer boldness, he may get the meeting he wants.

Khrushchev has made it plain he considers foreign ministers a bunch of errand boys who fiddle around, split hairs and waste time on problems which only the top men can solve anyway.

That's why he first balked at a foreign ministers' meeting to discuss the crisis he himself created: his demand the Western Allies get their troops out of West Berlin by May 27.

By sheer necessity—because the crisis is so major—the West's top men have had to move up front to handle it, leaving their foreign ministers in the shadows.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle have already met to discuss plans, map positions. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan goes to visit them this week. Then he comes here to see President Eisenhower.

Their foreign staff will be doing a lot of paper work but the top men will have to agree on the broad policy.

The fact that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been in the shadows is a physical accident. He has been hospitalized with cancer.

Still, in this particular situation, Eisenhower would have had to assume the up-front role since any final decision, which might mean shooting or its avoidance, would have to be his.

Dulles' illness put the whole foreign policy load on Eisenhower. Dulles carried a big part of that load when he was well. His Tuesday news conferences were an instrument for outlining broad American foreign policy.

Dulles could field the detailed questions thrown at him, thus making it easier for the President at his Wednesday news conference. Eisenhower couldn't have the detailed knowledge possessed by Dulles, the specialist.

But the British foreign secretary Selwyn Lloyd, has almost disappeared from view under the commotion stirred up by Khrushchev. He may be handling details for Britain, but Macmillan is doing the talking.

Yet the four Western Allies want a foreign ministers meeting to discuss Berlin and Germany. After saying what he thought of foreign ministers, Khrushchev agreed to their meeting, but grudgingly.

He made it plain he didn't think much good could come of it and in the end the top men would have to get together if there was going to be any solution at all.

If the foreign ministers meet, and most likely they will, and if they stall too long to suit Khrushchev, he can shut them off and come close to forcing a summit meeting by starting to push for a Berlin showdown in a hurry.

Bitter Memories

By Raymond Moley

In the course of a recent extended trip through Southern states I found many thoughtful Southerners reading Hodding Carter's moving account of the aftermath of the Civil War, "The Angry Scar."

The South hardly needs this reminder of those dark and tragic years. It is their heritage, firmly held in bitter memories. It is for us in the North to read and reflect upon those deeds of our forefathers. For they were the sowers of the seed, the harvest of which is still abundant.

Hodding Carter is a Southerner who is known, wherever books are read, as a reasonable, moderate, intelligent interpreter of Southern culture, problems and achievements — willing always to admit the failures as well as to praise the achievements of the post-Civil War Southern states.

His book hardly mentions the present controversy over integration. It argues neither for nor against the law or the principle involved in the Supreme Court's opinion.

IT IS APPROPRIATE that his account should begin when President Lincoln read to a crowd on the White House lawn his plans for the reunion of the States.

It was a reasonable plan, humane, and legally sound. It met with no applause in the North. The Republican party, intoxicated with the prospect of endless political supremacy, carried its will to the end.

In a grim recital of proven fact, Carter tells of what he calls those "years of the locust" — 300 pages of detail.

In the final days of a war already won there was the wanton destruction and looting of property. Later there were the unbelievable profits of rogues who trafficked in what property remained; military tyranny by the Union Armies of occupation; the claque of false propaganda about Confederate "atrocities"; screams of vengeance from Northern pulpits; Southern pastors forced from their own churches; and, most galling of all, new governments in Southern states officered by low characters from the byways, called scalawags, unscrupulous carpetbaggers from the North, and illiterate, primitive ex-slaves.

Above all, there was the rule over the whole nation by a Congress dominated by fanatical Republican radicals. Never was Congress so tainted with corruption.

The voices of moderates were lost in the uproar.

Gens. William T. Sherman and Pierre Beauregard expressed on one hand sympathy and on the other a willingness to grant rights to the Negroes.

It was years later, after the white people of the South regained measurable control, that there came Jim Crow as a defense against the still vindictive Republican majority in Congress.

IN THE MELEE, the nation's two-party system, our best shield for individual liberty, was all but destroyed.

This has meant that there can be no real alignment between conservatives and liberals on a national scale because of the issue of civil rights. Two distinct cultures were created, and at the heart of the problem is the un-assimilated Negro.

As a grandson of an Irish couple who left poverty and mis-government for better times in America, I learned how even after the centuries the name of Cromwell was remembered and hated. Memories are living things which must be weighed in the balance in all social and political calculations.

The South neither asks nor expects restitution for the wrongs of Reconstruction. Victors and victims alike now rest with a wiser judgment than ours. But we in the North should know and sympathize with what the South remembers.

This is no time, in the face of foreign threats, to intensify the inevitable differences among our own people.

Perhaps, with the political superiority that goes with greater numbers we can force a change in the externals of Southern habits and policies. But we can also, generations later, show the magnaminity that was so lacking in those unfortunate days after Appomattox.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I suspect the world-famed ooze of Flanders that defied all efforts to do anything about it in World War I was no worse than the ooze of this mushiest of all springs.

Albie Booth and Bert Metzger, of Yale and Notre Dame, respectively, were powerful examples for hundreds of "little men" who wanted to play football. Booth, who has just died, and Metzger weighed less than 150 pounds, yet both were first-teamers par excellence—Booth as a back, Metzger as a linesman.

I wonder if anyone still makes old-fashioned cottage cheese—the kind that was ivory-colored and chewy, instead of snow-white and bland.

If it's any comfort, it's safer to ride in an automobile every day. The death rate per 100 million vehicle miles has dropped from 16.3 in 1927 to last year's all-time low of 5.6. In 1957 it was 6.

I think often of the time that would be saved if people who talk about things they know nothing about were never listened to.

I have been hearing about nepotism since I was a child and once quit a job because a fellow employe pointed out that my father had made it possible for me to get it. The only solution to the problem in public employment, where nepotism is intolerable, is to outlaw it all the way down to nephews, which is what it means—favoritism toward nephews.

Unionists who complain that other unionists have forced their wage rates so high no one can afford to hire them do not realize they are criticizing their own philosophy, as far as I can see.

The nine-year-old car I drive back and forth to work is almost exactly the same as the "lightweight" cars supposedly being readied for sale in 1960 by the Big Three. Odd thing about it is that I never thought of it as a "lightweight" car, though I've noticed it is shorter than modern models. Apparently, Detroit figures if it goes back 10 years it will have given the public a bargain.

Plenty To Uncover In State Liquor Board

Gov. DiSalle is sure to have fertile ground for study when he digs into the operations of the State Liquor Board.

It is certain that too many bad eggs have been allowed to exist in the state's basket of permit holders. The vast majority of businesses that dispense liquor have operated honestly and within the law. The relatively few exceptions — the bad eggs — have been permitted too often to retain their permits despite indications they did not intend to abide fully by the regulations.

The State Liquor Department's enforcement arm has done a relatively good job under the last three governors. It has found violations and inflicted punishment. But in too many cases the board itself, acting as a court of appeal, has erased the punishment and allowed the violators to continue operating and sometimes continue violating the regulations.

IN OTHER CASES, violators who have been unsuccessful before the liquor board have appealed to Franklin County Common Pleas Court at Columbus and been restored their permits.

The setup has not been good.

Ohio's liquor laws were framed to provide certain individuals and business with the right to retail liquor, wine and beer. No one but a permit holder can do it legally. The liquor department's regulations safeguard the public and the permit holder on such things as hours of sale, prohibition of gambling or other law violations and operating decently with respect to maintaining order and refusing to serve intoxicated persons.

When the regulations are violated, the permit holder should be punished or removed from the business. Gov. DiSalle wants to know why violations have not been dealt with adequately in all cases.

TWO PRACTICES that most obviously need correction are (1) the too-frequent tendency for the board to overrule the liquor department on penalties and (2) the custom of assigning court appeals to Franklin County.

Columbus was chosen as the locale for court hearings as a convenience to the liquor board members. Each case, however, should be heard in the county of its origin, where prosecution and defense both can marshal their forces best.

That's the way it is with other court cases. That's the way it should be with liquor violations.

George Meany Has A Big Idea

A proposal by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, for a new congressional inquiry into the extent of official corruption, to offset the impression of corrupt unionism made by the McClellan investigation, is worth a second and third thought.

Everybody who has kept informed about improper practices in labor-management relations knows there has been a serious failure of local law enforcement behind many of the practices. Police departments have looked the other way.

President Meany has a big idea when he suggests that a searching inquiry into this dereliction of duty would show that corruption has not been confined to the bully-boys of unionism by any means. But it is not to be imagined that his accusation will be accepted by law enforcers in good grace.

They will point, in turn, to the political pressures exerted on police departments. And if the real source of the pressures were to be tracked down, it would be the demonstrated power of labor leaders to make and break politicians. That once was the subject of another Senate investigation before the beginning of the McClellan committee — the famed Kefauver committee that investigated crime.

THE KEFAUVER COMMITTEE disclosed the connection between shady unionism, organized crime and big politics. It picked tentatively at evidence that the Mafia had more power of decision over important matters in this country than the police power that supposedly controls strong-arm outfits like the Mafia.

It showed, as the McClellan committee was to show later, that there is an underworld conspiracy that preys on unions, business, individuals and even on political parties.

Unfortunately, the Senate never knew what to make of the information gathered by the Kefauver investigators. It does not seem to know what to do with the information gathered by the McClellan investigators, either. It seems to be waiting in the latter instance for someone like Mr. Meany to tell it to go ahead — that the AFL-CIO wants to be cleaned up and kept clean with the cooperation of law authorities.

It has been given a modified go-ahead signal. AFL-CIO has approved the Kennedy-Ervin bill. If it would approve the abolition of some of union labor's more inexcusable practices specified in the administration bill on the same subject, labor reform could become an actuality in 1959.

Every police department in the United States then would know how the political wind was blowing — that it had become politically safe to enforce the law against bully boys in labor the same as bully boys anywhere else.

But Is The Customer Always Right?

The steel industry never poured out production at its current high rate before, and for weeks to come records will continue to fall. The feast that everybody knew would come after the famine is in full swing.

A year ago, however, the famine was starting, and some things about it are not easily forgotten.

Steel experts hammered with all the logic they could muster on the theme that their customers were using up inventories past the point of safety.

Spokesmen for the industry pointed time and again to hand-to-mouth buying as proof that steel users were being shortsighted and would regret it when demand for steel sharpened.

Potential customers were warned they would be unable to get prompt delivery when inventories finally were exhausted completely and all of them piled on one another for quick supplies.

Employers in the steel industry were forced to tell their employes with what grace they could muster that shortsightedness on the part of customers was forcing an unnaturally aggravated slump in jobs.

There was not a single aspect of the steel picture in 1958 that made good sense to the steel industry and its employes. It was no comfort, either, to know that about this time in 1959 the spokesmen who had been pleading with customers of the industry to be moderate in inventory reduction would be able to sigh, "I told you so."

Everybody wants steel now.

To the extent that some of the steel they want could have been ordered months ago when the mills were more than half closed down for lack of business, the rush is hard to rationalize.

Steel is not a seasonal industry — not by any stretch of the imagination. Yet, during 1958 and even during the first weeks of 1959 it was unnaturally and unreasonably quiet because the customers who are "always right" were persisting in an attitude that did not make good sense.

Vocational Talks

The annual vocational guidance conference got under way today at East Liverpool High School.

They serve a sound purpose, with those in the various lines of business sitting down and talking things over with the students. Some of the advice may prove of slight value, but most should be of a constructive nature helpful to those trying to make up their minds about the future.

As we try to point out each year, student participation is the key to the success or failure of the conferences.

Without an active and sincere interest by the students, little of any lasting benefit can be achieved. An adviser may talk and talk, but if the desire to absorb isn't there on the part of the listener, the effort has been wasted.

So enter your conference room determined to get the most you possibly can out of the 50-minute period. Above all, join in the question-and-answer sessions. If you don't ask, you won't learn.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Thirty-four food experts voted 3-1 that a steak from a tranquilized steer is tastier than one from a nervous, fretful animal.

Now we know why we have had so much trouble with sirloins lately. The ones served us, instead of being docile, were the tense and resisting type.

In too many restaurants steaks are so tough the tranquilizer should be given to the customer along with a sharper knife.

Kansas City chemist says tranquilizer injected into a steer soothes it during the stockyard strain, causing it to lose little weight while other cattle get so fidgety they lose weight and toughen up.

The 34 food experts were served both transquilized and troublesome sirloins in the test. ("Waiter, take this filet mignon back to the kitchen; it's still resisting!")

We have had some hot arguments over steak tenderness recently. The reaction of waiters and chefs to our complaints showed they needed tranquilizers instead of the steers. Certainly when we get the check we were desperately in need of them.

MORTIMER TOPBLOWER wants tests made to determine whether the quality of hamburgers can be influenced by tranquilizers: "The ones I have been getting, especially at roadside lunchrooms, indicate high tension, irritability somewhere and must come from cattle in no mood to make friends," he declares.

He also favors a test of cheeseburgers by 34 food experts. "It's amazing how often a cheeseburger comes out looking so tense, thin and aggressive. I demand action to bring back the calm, undisturbed nonviolent cheeseburger. I got one the other day which made me wonder whether perhaps cheese also needs to be tranquilized," he said.

Will the tranquilizer experiments be extended to lamb, hogs, and chickens?

Mr. Topblower says some of those half-broilers he has been ordering lately are so thin and tough they, too, are clearly victims of tenseness.

Master Of All He Purveys

Is Presidency A Popularity Contest?

By Ralph McGill

There is a feeling in New York which is felt almost psychically by leaders in Tammany Hall and by those who believe political destiny already has touched Gov. Nelson Rockefeller with her wand.

It is that perhaps a majority of the American people presently look upon the presidential campaign as a popularity contest rather than a political one. Nor do they now consider it important that the victorious president shall carry with him in his triumph a majority of the House and Senate.

Time was when the two were viewed as one objective. One elected a president and gave him a working margin in the Congress. This, indeed, was the essence of the two-party system.

But the slow workings of change in America have had an effect on politics as on all other aspects of our national life. The growing industrial populations have made even more sensitive the issue of uninterrupted wages and blurred party principles. The agricultural South, once the stronghold of free trade, now is protective minded as it happily views its increasing census of factories. The Midwest farm bloc's political muscles are matched by those of steel and by fabricating and assembly plants.

These, plus the international dangers requiring a bipartisan approach, are the major factors which have caused so many voters to report they see little difference between the two parties.

THE RECESSION of late 1957 and 1958 caused a great revolt against the Republican party in the election of last November.

But the continuing post mortem into the cadaver of that upheaval reveals that it was not so much a swing to the Democratic party as it was an economically inspired retaliation against the GOP.

The polls all show the president's personal popularity to be high. This is true despite the fact he is not regarded as an especially effective president.

The picklock political pollsters are trying to determine if the people are still in the pendulum swing away from the strong leadership of the Franklin D. Roosevelt years and the positive position of Harry S. Truman.

Certain questions emerge.

Has the image of the presidency changed?

Is it the office to be filled with the winner of a popularity contest, while the Congress does the work of "politics"?

Was this the meaning of the failure of the Republicans to provide Mr. Eisenhower with a real working majority in 1952, when he carried 39 states? And what about 1956 when the Democrats increased their majority and 1958 when they again upped it?

These are questions not yet answered.

OBSERVERS NOTE that labor is having its problems of change. The big mass production unions are experiencing new pains brought on by European resurgency, inflation, automation and what might be called a flight of capital.

Exactly what have we priced out of the market? With five million unemployed, is it wise to push for a 35-hour week?

Union members no longer think of themselves as "labor." This is true in Britain as well as here. Even in West Germany, Italy, France and Belgium, the old "working class" consciousness is becoming middle class in possessions and outlook.

Political scientists at Columbia University, as well as in the party headquarters, believe no one has quite evaluated the fact that the fastest growing working group in America is that labeled "white collar." Even in the mass production factories as the number of men on the assembly line lessens, the employment totals go up in the clerical, computing, technical and lower-echelon "management" jobs.

Everything else in the world is changing. Politics can't escape it.

But what is the net result to be?

No one knows — though studies are being organized and pushed.

Meanwhile, if the presidency is in any substantial degree a popularity contest, and if Nelson Rockefeller wins his bold tax-increase gamble, he will be difficult to stop.

That's an "iffy" conclusion. But there is a lot of "if" in most things these days.

The Old Dime Novel

By Frank Tripp

An oldster, who in the Gay 90's cached the "deadly dime novel" under the wood pile, begs a word on the subject of adult responsibility for juvenile delinquency and child crime.

Nothing that my doting parents did to save me from the cheap literature of the day kept it away from me, or me away from it.

The gaudy paper - covered tales of the West, of crime and intrigue that sold for a dime, were available to any kid with a penny, or with a friend who had a penny.

As long as the flimsy paper would hang together they passed from kid to kid at a penny a reading; or could be had second hand for a nickel or less, according to their horror content or state of delapidation.

THERE existed in almost any neighborhood what amounted to a circulating library of the crime concoctions of perverted hack writers who ground them out by the hundreds a month — the "blood and thunder" that parents fought to keep away from their children.

And today pictured for them in the family living room; even long before they can read.

It is paradoxical that the urge to read such things, in days before the gory details could be pictured in the home, developed a generation of child readers who owe life success to their early ability to read and understand.

They were years ahead of today's kids as readers. They could spell too, and could put their thoughts into written words. This is not defense of what made them want to read.

It is condemnation of an era that actually forces upon the smallest child long before he can read that which parents once fought to keep away from children; plus sex that I cannot remember in any "accursed dime novel." Blood and thunder plenty; sex, no.

NATURE hasn't changed. The juvenile urge for the bizarre is as keen today as 60 years ago. The difference is that adults are not emphasizing the paltry seductive side of the dime novel of the screen; they are glorifying it.

No one can prove that books, sans TV, movies and radio, would not have developed today's surge of vicious juvenile delinquency and crimes by mere children.

Yet hardly a week passes that revolting acts by juveniles don't duplicate crimes that they have seen pictured; even reveal the source of the urge.

As did the upstate lad who took the idea from TV to bed with him, and next morning shot his father, mother, sister and brother.

If nothing more can be said for the stern parenthood that tried to shield its undeveloped children from knowledge of crime and violence, at least it stamped early and indelibly a contrast between right and wrong that sunk deeper into young minds than do so - called "examples that crime does not pay" — a bogus alibi for crime glorification.

Sure, I watch 'em, lots of them; but I never turn off the set that I don't ponder how harmless by comparison, were the "blood and thunder" dog - eared dime novels that my parents never knew I read, and had me convinced that they were vicious. Thus counteracting the bad influence they might have exerted upon me.

Nor do I remember a kid of my dime novel acquaintance who ever committed a vicious act. Now my impressionable great - grandchildren, who won't read with understanding for another five years, see ten times worse at our own fireside.

You bet, I could sometime have something to regret; and should it happen, will deserve my anguish. You too, brother.

'Summit' Of Their Own?

By James Marlow

Khrushchev May Get His Way After All

WASHINGTON

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, temporarily frustrated in his desire for a summit conference, is forcing the Western Allies into a kind of summit meeting of their own.

In the end, by sheer boldness, he may get the meeting he wants.

Khrushchev has made it plain he considers foreign ministers a bunch of errand boys who fiddle around, split hairs and waste time on problems which only the top men can solve anyway.

That's why he first balked at a foreign ministers' meeting to discuss the crisis he himself created: his demand the Western Allies get their troops out of West Berlin by May 27.

By sheer necessity—because the crisis is so major—the West's top men have had to move up front to handle it, leaving their foreign ministers in the shadows.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle have already met to discuss plans, map positions. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan goes to visit them this week. Then he comes here to see President Eisenhower.

Their foreign staff will be doing a lot of paper work but the top men will have to agree on the broad policy.

The fact that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been in the shadows is a physical accident. He has been hospitalized with cancer.

Still, in this particular situation, Eisenhower would have had to assume the up-front role since any final decision, which might mean shooting or its avoidance, would have to be his.

Dulles' illness put the whole foreign policy load on Eisenhower. Dulles carried a big part of that load when he was well. His Tuesday news conferences were an instrument for outlining broad American foreign policy.

Dulles could field the detailed questions thrown at him, thus making it easier for the President at his Wednesday news conference. Eisenhower couldn't have the detailed knowledge possessed by Dulles, the specialist.

But the British foreign secretary Selwyn Lloyd, has almost disappeared from view under the commotion stirred up by Khrushchev. He may be handling details for Britain, but Macmillan is doing the talking.

Yet the four Western Allies want a foreign ministers meeting to discuss Berlin and Germany. After saying what he thought of foreign ministers, Khrushchev agreed to their meeting, but grudgingly.

He made it plain he didn't think much good could come of it and in the end the top men would have to get together if there was going to be any solution at all.

If the foreign ministers meet, and most likely they will, and if they stall too long to suit Khrushchev, he can shut them off and come close to forcing a summit meeting by starting to push for a Berlin showdown in a hurry.

Bitter Memories

By Raymond Moley

In the course of a recent extended trip through Southern states I found many thoughtful Southerners reading Hodding Carter's moving account of the aftermath of the Civil War, "The Angry Scar."

The South hardly needs this reminder of those dark and tragic years. It is their heritage, firmly held in bitter memories. It is for us in the North to read and reflect upon those deeds of our forefathers. For they were the sowers of the seed, the harvest of which is still abundant.

Hodding Carter is a Southerner who is known, wherever books are read, as a reasonable, moderate, intelligent interpreter of Southern culture, problems and achievements — willing always to admit the failures as well as to praise the achievements of the post-Civil War Southern states.

His book hardly mentions the present controversy over integration. It argues neither for nor against the law or the principle involved in the Supreme Court's opinion.

IT IS APPROPRIATE that his account should begin when President Lincoln read to a crowd on the White House lawn his plans for the reunion of the States.

It was a reasonable plan, humane, and legally sound. It met with no applause in the North. The Republican party, intoxicated with the prospect of endless political supremacy, carried its will to the end.

In a grim recital of proven fact, Carter tells of what he calls those "years of the locust" — 300 pages of detail.

In the final days of a war already won there was the wanton destruction and looting of property. Later there were the unbelievable profits of rogues who trafficked in what property remained; military tyranny by the Union Armies of occupation; the claque of false propaganda about Confederate "atrocities"; screams of vengeance from Northern pulpits; Southern pastors forced from their own churches; and, most galling of all, new governments in Southern states officered by low characters from the byways, called scalawags, unscrupulous carpetbaggers from the North, and illiterate, primitive ex-slaves.

Above all, there was the rule over the whole nation by a Congress dominated by fanatical Republican radicals. Never was Congress so tainted with corruption.

The voices of moderates were lost in the uproar.

Gens. William T. Sherman and Pierre Beauregard expressed on one hand sympathy and on the other a willingness to grant rights to the Negroes.

It was years later, after the white people of the South regained measurable control, that there came Jim Crow as a defense against the still vindictive Republican majority in Congress.

IN THE MELEE, the nation's two-party system, our best shield for individual liberty, was all but destroyed.

This has meant that there can be no real alignment between conservatives and liberals on a national scale because of the issue of civil rights. Two distinct cultures were created, and at the heart of the problem is the un-assimilated Negro.

As a grandson of an Irish couple who left poverty and mis-government for better times in America, I learned how even after the centuries the name of Cromwell was remembered and hated. Memories are living things which must be weighed in the balance in all social and political calculations.

The South neither asks nor expects restitution for the wrongs of Reconstruction. Victors and victims alike now rest with a wiser judgment than ours. But we in the North should know and sympathize with what the South remembers.

This is no time, in the face of foreign threats, to intensify the inevitable differences among our own people.

Perhaps, with the political superiority that goes with greater numbers we can force a change in the externals of Southern habits and policies. But we can also, generations later, show the magnaminity that was so lacking in those unfortunate days after Appomattox.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I suspect the world-famed ooze of Flanders that defied all efforts to do anything about it in World War I was no worse than the ooze of this mushiest of all springs.

Albie Booth and Bert Metzger, of Yale and Notre Dame, respectively, were powerful examples for hundreds of "little men" who wanted to play football. Booth, who has just died, and Metzger weighed less than 150 pounds, yet both were first-teamers par excellence—Booth as a back, Metzger as a linesman.

I wonder if anyone still makes old-fashioned cottage cheese—the kind that was ivory-colored and chewy, instead of snow-white and bland.

If it's any comfort, it's safer to ride in an automobile every day. The death rate per 100 million vehicle miles has dropped from 16.3 in 1927 to last year's all-time low of 5.6. In 1957 it was 6.

I have been hearing about nepotism since I was a child and once quit a job because a fellow employe pointed out that my father had made it possible for me to get it. The only solution to the problem in public employment, where nepotism is intolerable, is to outlaw it all the way down to nephews, which is what it means—favoritism toward nephews.

Unionists who complain that other unionists have forced their wage rates so high no one can afford to hire them do not realize they are criticizing their own philosophy, as far as I can see.

The nine-year-old car I drive back and forth to work is almost exactly the same as the "lightweight" cars supposedly being readied for sale in 1960 by the Big Three. Odd thing about it is that I never thought of it as a "lightweight" car, though I've noticed it is shorter than modern models. Apparently, Detroit figures if it goes back 10 years it will have given the public a bargain.

Charges Face Ex-Midlander For Burglary

Burglary charges were to be filed today at Youngstown against Nick Tepovich, 31, formerly of Midland, who confessed Saturday to looting two drug stores of $550 in cash and a quantity of drugs.

Youngstown detectives said Tepovich signed a statement in which he admitted a burglary Wednesday at the Gray Drug Store in McGuffey Plaza, in which drugs and $300 in cash were taken. He also confessed to a burglary Jan. 27 at Lester's Pharmacy in downtown Youngstown, in which he obtained narcotics and $250 in cash, Youngstown authorities said.

Police said Tepovich was taken into custody at the home of Mrs. Mary Helen Fawcett, a 30-year-old widow at whose home he had been residing for six months. Charged with illegal possession of a hypodermic syringe, Mrs. Fawcett was released on a $1,000 bond pending a hearing today in Youngstown Municipal Court.

Youngstown detectives said "a large quantity of narcotics" was recovered when the couple was seized Thursday at the Youngstown home.

Youngstown police said 300 blank money order forms also were taken in the burglary at the Gray Drug Store. They said Tepovich has no other record of arrests in Youngstown, but reported he was arrested on suspicion of burglary in New Castle in 1956. Police said Mrs. Fawcett's husband was killed in an accident several years ago.

Marks 47th Anniversary

1,200 Attend Annual Sing Of Area Girl Scout Council

Over 1,200 attended the 12th annual "sing" sponsored by the East Liverpool Area Girl Scout Council in conjunction with the 47th anniversary of scouting Sunday afternoon at Memorial Auditorium.

The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller gave the invocation. Greetings were extended by Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, president of the Council, and Miss Ellen Monroe, new executive secretary.

Selections written by Will Thompson were sung by the Brownies.

Among the handicraft displays of the intermediate troops in connection with the theme, "Your Town USA," were complete layouts of the Diamond area, floor plans of the City Hall, a group of Indian relics pertaining to the founding of the city, small scale reproductions of modern machinery at Patterson Foundry, individual scenes on small boxes portraying the development of Chester, items on the historical background of Wellsville, photographs of points of interest in Newell and miniature homes showing the progress of Calcutta Acres.

Many troops had members dressed in timely costumes explaining the details of their exhibits. Senior troops acted as guides.

An original poem by the late Miss Agnes Cleland, publicity chairman of the council for many years, was used on the cover of the program.

Mrs. Clarence Bryan was acting chairman in place of Mrs. Dan Henderson, who is a patient in City Hospital. She was assisted by Mrs. Frederick Lawrence and Mrs. Ray Clendenning.

Chairmen of the neighborhood area groups participating were: Mrs. John Myler, Calcutta; Mrs. George Elliott, Wellsville; Mrs. Charles Taylor, Chester; Mrs. June Silliman, Pleasant Heights; Mrs. J. A. Monasky and Mrs. C. R. Thomas, downtown; Mrs. W. A. Sprouse, Newell; Mrs. Henderson, East End, and Mrs. Clendenning, North Side.

Charges Face Ex-Midlander For Burglary

Burglary charges were to be filed today at Youngstown against Nick Tepovich, 31, formerly of Midland, who confessed Saturday to looting two drug stores of $550 in cash and a quantity of drugs.

Youngstown detectives said Tepovich signed a statement in which he admitted a burglary Wednesday at the Gray Drug Store in McGuffey Plaza, in which drugs and $300 in cash were taken. He also confessed to a burglary Jan. 27 at Lester's Pharmacy in downtown Youngstown, in which he obtained narcotics and $250 in cash, Youngstown authorities said.

Police said Tepovich was taken into custody at the home of Mrs. Mary Helen Fawcett, a 30-year-old widow at whose home he had been residing for six months. Charged with illegal possession of a hypodermic syringe, Mrs. Fawcett was released on a $1,000 bond pending a hearing today in Youngstown Municipal Court.

Youngstown detectives said "a large quantity of narcotics" was recovered when the couple was seized Thursday at the Youngstown home.

Youngstown police said 300 blank money order forms also were taken in the burglary at the Gray Drug Store. They said Tepovich has no other record of arrests in Youngstown, but reported he was arrested on suspicion of burglary in New Castle in 1956. Police said Mrs. Fawcett's husband was killed in an accident several years ago.

Ceremony's Cold, Windy

Ground Broken For School

Head Of Schools Addresses 50 At Rites

About 50 attended a brief but cold and windy ground-breaking ceremony Saturday afternoon for the new $568,367 Ray W. Snyder Elementary School on the Fairview-Ohioview Rd. in Industry Township.

H. C. Elder, Beaver County school superintendent, told the group that the naming of the school after Mr. Snyder was one of the highest tributes that a community can pay a man.

Mrs. Snyder was present to receive an artists' sketch of the school. B. J. McCandless, the architect, made the sketch, which was presented by Elder.

Mr. Snyder, who was supervising principal of Industry schools for 16 years, became the first supervising principal of the Western Beaver County school district with the forming of the jointure in 1953. He died Nov. 1, 1957, a few days before voters decided on a merged district effective in July 1958.

James P. McClaskey, board president, and Daniel C. Baker, authority chairman, conducted the breaking of the ground with a copper colored shovel.

Frank Meredith, supervising principal, introduced McClaskey, Baker and Elder, who spoke briefly. School Board members present were McClaskey, president, Miller Biach, Mrs. Anna Childs, John Flasco, John Ketter, Mrs. Jean McCombs, John Petchel and Walter Zischkau.

Other School Board members are Wilbert Basinger, Robert Beglin, Burdell Blackmore, Mrs. Gertrude Jackson, Kenneth Miller, Harry Ralston and Walter Simoni.

Authority members present were Baker, chairman, Elmer Gifford, Glenn Dawson, William McCombs and Clyde Piquet, new member appointed from Industry to replace Glenn Dawson. Frank Dawson is also a member.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Ray A. McCreight, pastor of the Four-Mile United Presbyterian Church and the benediction by the Rev. James M. Servey of the Ohio View Lutheran Church.

Contractors present were Frank Carcaise of the Carcaise Construction Co. of Rochester, and a representative of the Herge Radio & Electric Shop of Ellwood City.

Several teachers were present.

Chief E. J. Hineman was on hand to direct traffic. The new 12-room school to be completed by next January will expand present over-crowded facilities.

The proposal for a new junior-senior high school on the same site is awaiting the approval of the Department of Public Instruction.

Prisoners Out And In

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Four hours after two prisoners dug their way out of Ashland County jail they were back in custody. Using spoons and a piece of pipe, Ken Buxton, 21, and Billy Ray Cranmore, 22, gouged a 17-by-8½-inch hole in the wall of the old jail house Sunday. Other prisoners reported the escape and both men were picked up 12 miles away at West Salem.

Chilled Swimmer Smashes Window To Gain Attention

A 19-year-old East Liverpool area youth who went for a swim in the Ohio River at Wellsville and later broke a window to attract attention early Sunday morning faces a hearing in Wellsville on a charge of malicious destruction of property.

David Keith Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wayne of Substation, broke a window in the Ohio State Liquor Store, 1245 Main St., Wellsville, at 3:40 a. m. yesterday in order to set off the burglar alarm. When police arrived, he told them he was cold and wanted to attract attention.

Wayne was treated at City Hospital for exposure and a small laceration of the shoulder and foot. Police said he used his arm to break the window in the front door of the liquor store.

Wayne told police he went into the river at 3rd St. He said he swam about three-quarters of the way across, hoping to catch a passing barge which he thought was headed for New Orleans.

He apparently missed the passing boat and then swam back, landing at 12th St. Police said he had all his clothes on except for his shoes.

Flood Aid Reported

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Red Cross says it has spent $1,925,944 in aiding 7,997 Ohio families which asked for assistance in cleaning up after recent floods. Another 755 families will receive assistance before March 15. The organization has spent $2,382,965 for disaster relief in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, New York and West Virginia.

Taxes Total $6 Million

LISBON — Total tax collections in Columbiana County in 1958 hit $6,180,496, according to a report issued today at Columbus by State Auditor James A. Rhodes. The bulk of the money came from real estate and public utility property taxes.

Also represented are inheritance and estate taxes, special assessments, classified intangibles and house trailer fees.

A 19-year-old East Liverpool area youth who went for a swim in the Ohio River at Wellsville and later broke a window to attract attention early Sunday morning faces a hearing in Wellsville on a charge of malicious destruction of property.

David Keith Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wayne of Substation, broke a window in the Ohio State Liquor Store, 1245 Main St., Wellsville, at 3:40 a. m. yesterday in order to set off the burglar alarm. When police arrived, he told them he was cold and wanted to attract attention.

Wayne was treated at City Hospital for exposure and a small laceration of the shoulder and foot. Police said he used his arm to break the window in the front door of the liquor store.

Wayne told police he went into the river at 3rd St. He said he swam about three-quarters of the way across, hoping to catch a passing barge which he thought was headed for New Orleans.

He apparently missed the passing boat and then swam back, landing at 12th St. Police said he had all his clothes on except for his shoes.

Woman's Leg Broken In Fall

Mrs. Carrie Emmerling of Ray St. is in "fairly good" condition with a possible fracture of the leg received in a fall at home yesterday.

Margaret McCormick, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick of R. D. 2, was treated yesterday morning for an arm injury received in a fall while roller skating at the K-B Rink on Route 30.

Budget Of Mental Health Seen Short

"The governor's budget request for the mental health program is some $17 million short of the basic need," Dr. A. E. Chadwick, president of the Beaver County Mental Health Society, commented.

Some $16 million of this deficiency will be borne by the state hospitals, he said. These figures, the Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc., reported, are based on an independent survey made last fall by the statewide citizens' mental health organization and its affiliated county organizations.

Charles H. Frazier of Philadelphia, president of the PMH, said the governor's budget proposals to meet a serious fiscal problem are recognized and "we are gratified that some phases of the mental health program may receive increases and chalk up progress."

He said more money will be available for community services and the schools for the mentally retarded will be able to whittle away at the back-log of children awaiting admission.

At the heart of the state's mental health system, he said, are the 17 mental hospitals which have not fared well.

The $16 million of the $17 million estimated deficiency is in the hospital category, Frazier said, and they will barely be able to operate at their present level if no further funds are appropriated to them.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: Recently my wife and I visited an elderly aunt to help celebrate her birthday. While in the kitchen chatting, I noticed her dog had jumped from the chair on to the table and was eating the spareribs which were to be served to the guests.

I shouted to my aunt and she calmly replied, "Oh that's nothing. He doesn't have any germs. He's very clean."

She did nothing about removing the ribs the dog had been chewing on, so I took them off the platter and let the dog finish them on the floor. My aunt's only comment was, "My, aren't we fancy!"

I didn't feel like eating much dinner. On the way home my wife tore me to pieces because of my "terrible manners." She said I insulted our hostess by not eating the food she had prepared.

I told her I didn't think I could eat a mouthful of food in that house ever again. Will you please referee this one? We want an unbiased opinion. — FANCY FRANK.

-:-

Dear Fancy: I can't see that you need a referee. Since you now know that Auntie thinks nothing of permitting the dog to jump on the table and help himself to whatever is around, simply eat before you go over there and make no apologies. It's not rude; it's prudent.

Out Of Context

Dear Ann: We are a group of 15-year-olds who think your advice to "Alone Dad" was lousy. You must be an 80-year-old dried-up witch.

The father wanted your opinion on letting his 15-year-old daughter have her boy friend over when she baby-sat. You said "no!"

If a girl is really nice, what's wrong with having her boy friend over when no adults are present? You also have said, "Parents cannot watch their children every living minute. The best policeman in the world is self discipline."

How do you account for these two contradictory statements? We will be watching the paper for your explanation — if you can think of one. — THE GROUP.

-:-

Dear Group: Lifting one sentence out of context is an old trick. Read my statement carefully and you'll find the sentences which follow make my position clear.

True — the best policeman in the world is self-discipline. But even the best policeman goes off duty now and then.

"Lead us not into temptation" are words worth remembering. Teen-agers ask for trouble when they tempt Fate. I warn repeatedly against parking on lonely roads, sitting in pitch-dark rooms and spending hours in a house when no adults are present.

High standards and good training have been known to lose the battle when pitted against the chemistry of youth. Even steel bars can be bent when subjected to intense heat. Don't forget that humans are creatures of intellect and emotion, and all too often the latter is the boss.

The girl who says, "I have perfect control; it could never happen to me," is usually mistaken at the top of her voice.

Reasonable Offer

Dear Ann: My cousin had her first baby and she needs a bed. She worked up to the last minute so they must have money saved.

My baby is 16 months old and is still in her baby bed, although we will be buying her a youth bed soon. I offered to sell the baby bed to my cousin for $15. (It cost $40). She said she'd talk to her husband and let me know.

Two days later she phoned to say she didn't want to buy the bed, she wants to borrow it. She said it would be better for me, too, as I may have more babies. I said nothing doing.

Now they are mad at us and telling everyone how cheap we are. Are we cheap or are they?—XYZ.

-:-

Dear XYZ: Your offer to sell her a $40 bed for $15 was not unreasonable. Forget it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: Recently my wife and I visited an elderly aunt to help celebrate her birthday. While in the kitchen chatting, I noticed her dog had jumped from the chair on to the table and was eating the spareribs which were to be served to the guests.

I shouted to my aunt and she calmly replied, "Oh that's nothing. He doesn't have any germs. He's very clean."

She did nothing about removing the ribs the dog had been chewing on, so I took them off the platter and let the dog finish them on the floor. My aunt's only comment was, "My, aren't we fancy!"

I didn't feel like eating much dinner. On the way home my wife tore me to pieces because of my "terrible manners." She said I insulted our hostess by not eating the food she had prepared.

I told her I didn't think I could eat a mouthful of food in that house ever again. Will you please referee this one? We want an unbiased opinion. — FANCY FRANK.

-:-

Dear Fancy: I can't see that you need a referee. Since you now know that Auntie thinks nothing of permitting the dog to jump on the table and help himself to whatever is around, simply eat before you go over there and make no apologies. It's not rude; it's prudent.

Out Of Context

Dear Ann: We are a group of 15-year-olds who think your advice to "Alone Dad" was lousy. You must be an 80-year-old dried-up witch.

The father wanted your opinion on letting his 15-year-old daughter have her boy friend over when she baby-sat. You said "no!"

If a girl is really nice, what's wrong with having her boy friend over when no adults are present? You also have said, "Parents cannot watch their children every living minute. The best policeman in the world is self discipline."

How do you account for these two contradictory statements? We will be watching the paper for your explanation — if you can think of one. — THE GROUP.

-:-

Dear Group: Lifting one sentence out of context is an old trick. Read my statement carefully and you'll find the sentences which follow make my position clear.

True — the best policeman in the world is self - discipline. But even the best policeman goes off duty now and then.

"Lead us not into temptation" are words worth remembering. Teen-agers ask for trouble when they tempt Fate. I warn repeatedly against parking on lonely roads, sitting in pitch-dark rooms and spending hours in a house when no adults are present.

High standards and good training have been known to lose the battle when pitted against the chemistry of youth. Even steel bars can be bent when subjected to intense heat. Don't forget that humans are creatures of intellect and emotion, and all too often the latter is the boss.

The girl who says, "I have perfect control; it could never happen to me," is usually mistaken at the top of her voice.

Reasonable Offer

Dear Ann: My cousin had her first baby and she needs a bed. She worked up to the last minute so they must have money saved.

My baby is 16 months old and is still in her baby bed, although we will be buying her a youth bed soon. I offered to sell the baby bed to my cousin for $15. (It cost $40). She said she'd talk to her husband and let me know.

Two days later she phoned to say she didn't want to buy the bed, she wants to borrow it. She said it would be better for me, too, as I may have more babies. I said nothing doing.

Now they are mad at us and telling everyone how cheap we are. Are we cheap or are they?—XYZ.

-:-

Dear XYZ: Your offer to sell her a $40 bed for $15 was not unreasonable. Forget it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

and crashed over an embankment and overturned.

Deputies said the 1956 model auto landed on its roof, but the motorist escaped without serious injury. He was driving north on Route 2 at 6:30 a. m. Sunday when the accident occured. Smusz was also cited for failure to have his auto under control, deputies said.

3 Local Men Injured As Car Hits Parked Rig

Three East Liverpool men were injured, one critically, when their car crashed into a parked tractor-trailer rig on E. 3rd St. Sunday night, only 11 days after the driver had his license returned after a conviction for drunken driving.

Listed in "poor" condition at City Hospital is Murl Oney, 37, of E. 2nd St. Police said Oney, one of two passengers, suffered multiple fractures of the ribs, a fractured jaw, a serious chest injury and lip lacerations.

Bernard John Icenhower, 40, of 305 E. 2nd St., driver of the auto, and Homer Rose, 50, of Clark Ave. are in "fair" condition, the hospital said.

Icenhower suffered a fracture of the upper jaw and nose, a possible chest injury and laceration of the upper lip, while Rose received lacerations of the forehead and right cheek and a possible chest injury, officers said. The hospital said Rose also suffered a possible fracture of the right arm.

Patrolman William A. Devon, who investigated, arrested Icenhower for drunken driving. He will be arraigned in Municipal Court following his release from the hospital.

Icenhower was unable to make a statement, the officer said, but he secured written statements from Stanley Wilson, 311 Church Alley, owner of the 1952 Mack truck, and Harry E. Justice, 811 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, another witness to the crash.

The three men were riding in the front seat of the eastbound car and the rig was parked on the south side of E. 3rd St., about 50 feet east of Washington St., Patrolman Devon said.

Rose was sitting in the middle with Oney on the right side, he said. The crash occurred about 11 p. m., police said.

After the crash, which demolished the 1946 auto, the hood and front of the car were peeled back and a piece of metal came against Oney and he had to be removed from the left side of the car, Officer Devon said.

It will be Icenhower's second arraignment for drunken driving. Municipal Court records show he was convicted of a similar count April 5, 1958, and fined $300 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had his driver's license revoked for six months. In drunk driving cases, the state also suspends the license for three years or until financial responsibility insurance is acquired.

Court attaches said Icenhower served time at the County Jail for his fine and costs.

Needing his operator's permit to drive to work, Icenhower secured financial responsibility insurance and the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles approved return of his license on Feb. 25.

Two minor accidents were reported over the weekend, police said.

A collision at 11:44 a. m. Saturday at Market St. and Drury Ln. involved a northbound car operated by Jay H. Moss, 21, of 508 W. 9th St. and a southbound car driven by Howard Kevan, 28, of Glenmoor.

John C. Kirby, 38, of Canton told police his car was struck in the rear end by a hit-skip motorist at 1:55 p. m. Saturday when he stopped for the traffic light at Market and 5th Sts.

When he pulled to the curb to get out of the line of traffic, Kirby said the other motorist drove away.

When Buying A Home

Avoid 'Pane' In The Neck

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Too bad there isn't a school for housewives, one that would include courses on "How to buy a house" or "What every woman should know about buying a house."

But then, what would men critics talk about if women folk were well informed?

Most of the information passed along by our male critics is useful, however, often well worth consideration by the house hunter.

Take the case for windows and doors.

It seems that if women would pay more attention to these little conventional items when they buy a house, the upkeep on their abode might be lowered, to say nothing of wear and tear on their dispositions.

—:—

"IT'S ITEMS like those that challenge your savings after you move into your new home," claims Frank C. Russell, expert on these closures. "There can be considerable heat loss from windows and doors that do not offer enough insulation, more work connected with their upkeep, and maintenance costs could be higher."

The problem could be solved, he suggests, by studying the doors and windows the builder plans to put in your house before they are installed, rather than worrying about that function after you move in.

"Ask your builder what type of doors and windows he plans to use, visit local establishments that sell them, and if you do not approve, consult with the builder about installing windows of your choice. It may cost a little more, but it will be worth it in the long run."

And for those who've tried unsuccessfully, Russell agrees that builders in project - type houses are likely to be difficult about changes in plans.

"But that's where your husband comes in. Get him to discuss the change with the builder."

—:—

THE WINDOWS you choose should be leak-proof to avoid having puddles on that new rug when it rains; they should be properly insulated against the cold wind.

Take into consideration the function as well as design of the windows.

Newer windows are on vinyl track for easy sliding, and you don't have to sit on window sills to wash windows unless you want to, he says. Some window screens and storm sashes are removable for cleaning. There are many more types available, too, than the old-style double-hung or casement styles.

Color is another innovation to consider as window styles are available now in decorator colors, not only adding to the attractiveness of the house but eliminating painting costs, especially when a baked enamel finish is used over the metal.

Russell, who has been turning out windows for 21 years, points out that there are window styles for every type house, that there are dozens of standard sizes in windows of all manufacturers, but that once you move to a house with bad windows you are stuck with them.

Injuries Prove Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Injuries received when his car struck a tree Thursday in Geauga County were fatal Sunday night to Andrew B. Dell. The 44-year-old Willoughby resident died in Huron Road Hospital.

COMPACT CONVENIENCE. Foyer entrance, handy laundry, big kitchen with breakfast nook and a living room-study with two-way fireplace are among the attractive features of this three-bedroom ranch. You Can Build Own Carport

Here's One Answer To Auto Problem

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY
Written For Bell Syndicate

A large number of small, low-cost homes do not have an attached garage and many of them are without a detached garage.

Usually this is to keep the original cost of the dwelling at a minimum, and with the expectation of building the garage later on. However, a small garage will easily run into a price ranging from $500 to more than $1,000 at today's prices when contracted for.

In view of the fact that all cars are now winterized and that most of them are left out in the weather from sunup to sundown, it makes sense for the owner of a small house to settle for a carport.

The actual building of a carport is not a difficult thing. It involves nothing but straight hammer-and-saw work, and thousands of them have been built by amateurs.

The first step in the construction is to lay a concrete slab, four inches thick and of suitable size.

Foundation bolts, three inches long, should be embedded in the two outside corners and in the center of the outside wall. A 2-by-4 is then laid along the outer wall and rear wall with holes bored in them so that they set over the foundation bolts. The 2-by-4 wall studs, 16 inches apart, are then set up to proper height and capped with a double 2-by-4 plate. Two-by-four roof rafters are next set from a strip spoked into the house wall to the plate. Tongued and grooved sheathing is nailed over the rafters and covered with roll-roofing.

The outside finish of the walls must be of the same clapboard or shingles as the house wall and must be painted the same color. Windows or doors are not essential.

Board Ends Must Be Painted To Obtain Proper Protection

A new house with a sparkling coat of paint may look well-painted, but painting where it counts may have been omitted.

No doubt every home owner with enough interest in his property to wonder why certain things happen has noticed that whenever a board starts to rot or crack, the rotting and the splitting starts at an end and never in the center or middle of the board.

He also has noticed that the trim which starts to bulge or turn dark after a few years starts where one piece of the wood butts against another.

The answer to this deterioration is that the butt ends were not painted but were nailed up raw. And when the painter commenced his work there was no way in which he could get paint into the joints and protect the butts.

The butt end of a plank or board is about 10 times as absorbent as the face or edge of a board. And when it becomes soaked with rain it takes four or five times longer to dry out. The result is rapid rot or decay unless the joint is caulked or filled with paint. Butt ends should be painted before the lumber is nailed up.

All of the above leads up to the matter of repainting a house. It does not make a good job to merely spread good paint evenly over the house, passing over joints and seams in the construction.

Wide gaps must be caulked and narrow joints should be brushed over back and forth until the paint runs into and fills the openings. In this, and in no other way, will the house be properly protected and rain and weather sealed out.

The United States government, in a pamphlet published some time ago, makes the statement that caulking or filling the open joints in a house is almost as important as painting it.

Hunt For Missing Girl Goes Into Fourth Day

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The search for a missing nine-year-old Campfire Girl went into its fourth day today with hardly a trace to go on and a vow by a policeman inspector that "we'll keep searching for her until we find out, one way or the other."

Police checked every phone call — there have been hundreds — offering a lead to the disappearance of Candice Elaine Rogers. The little blue-eyed, girl was last seen Friday after school when she set out to sell candy mints to raise money for her Campfire troop.

"We've checked everything, nothing tangible. It doesn't seem possible the child could have wandered to the river area by herself, especially toward evening," said Inspector Robert B. Piper.

The inspector referred to an area along the Spokane River where six boxes of mints were found.

Tips Offered For 'Private' Water System

CHICAGO — Moving to the country can be the fulfillment of a lifelong dream. No more city dirt, no more traffic worries, no more city crowds and congestion. But, no more city water, either.

No cause for alarm these days, however. Providing a private water system is easier than ever. There are only a few important points to pay careful attention to when you select the system that can give all the reliable efficiency of a municipal water supply.

The primary point is careful selection of the businessmen who will build and equip your water system.

First is the well drilling contractor. To help you be sure you're hiring a reliable driller, the National Water Well Association has suggested several points to consider:

Be sure he is willing to work under a written contract with liability insurance protection for you; ask that he blueprint the job step by step to give you a certified log of the well; ask that he guarantee the materials and quality of workmanship; ask for the names of several satisfied customers in your area.

In selecting the pump, it's important that you deal with a reliable water systems dealer who knows how to choose, install and service the pump best suited to your needs.

A simple basis for determining water needs, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, is to allow 50 gallons a day per person for all purposes. But it's a good idea to figure 50 per cent above your immediate requirements in sizing the pump. Watering a large garden or lawn or adding a swimming pool, for instance, will increase your water demands.

There's every reason why you can expect the same convenience and freedom of use of water from a private system that you took for granted in the city, the bureau says — if you deal with water systems experts.

The giant waterlily, Victoria regia, has leaves that measure as much as six feet across.

Big Camera Satellites To 'Shoot' The Earth

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Nine giant camera satellites will be fired into orbit aboard powerful Atlas missiles starting next September, informed sources say.

Persons close to the project reported Sunday the camera satellites, weighing about a ton, will be blasted into short-lived orbits to take pictures of most of the earth's surface, including the heartland of the Soviet Union.

The program, called "Project Sentry," will use a two-stage Atlas ICBM as the booster for the bulky payload.

There were no details on the camera itself or how it would perform, but it was learned that the project was shifted to the Cape from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Sentry is just one of a number of important space roles being assigned the workhouse Atlas which soared into orbit on its own last Dec. 18.

Spotters To Hold Test For Tornado Season

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau is sharpening its tornado spotting organization in "Tornado Alley."

More than 200 persons from 32 Kansas and 18 Oklahoma towns met here Sunday to plan a test alert April 1.

A helicopter will impersonate a tornado in three Kansas counties along the Oklahoma border.

Most tornadoes usually are sighted in May, with June second and April third.

Beaten To Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Elmina M. Mull, 31, Akron, was found beaten to death in her home here Sunday. Police said James Monroe, 28, of Akron, a friend of Mrs. Mull, who was a widow, was arrested in Ebensburg, Pa., and will be returned here for questioning.

CHICAGO — Moving to the country can be the fulfillment of a lifelong dream. No more city dirt, no more traffic worries, no more city crowds and congestion. But, no more city water, either.

No cause for alarm these days, however. Providing a private water system is easier than ever. There are only a few important points to pay careful attention to when you select the system that can give all the reliable efficiency of a municipal water supply.

The primary point is careful selection of the businessmen who will build and equip your water system.

First is the well drilling contractor. To help you be sure you're hiring a reliable driller, the National Water Well Association has suggested several points to consider:

Be sure he is willing to work under a written contract with liability insurance protection for you; ask that he blueprint the job step by step to give you a certified log of the well; ask that he guarantee the materials and quality of workmanship; ask for the names of several satisfied customers in your area.

In selecting the pump, it's important that you deal with a reliable water systems dealer who knows how to choose, install and service the pump best suited to your needs.

A simple basis for determining water needs, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, is to allow 50 gallons a day per person for all purposes. But it's a good idea to figure 50 per cent above your immediate requirements in sizing the pump. Watering a large garden or lawn or adding a swimming pool, for instance, will increase your water demands.

There's every reason why you can expect the same convenience and freedom of use of water from a private system that you took for granted in the city, the bureau says — if you deal with water systems experts.

The giant waterlily, Victoria regia, has leaves that measure as much as six feet across.

You Can Build Own Carport

Here's One Answer To Auto Problem

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY
Written For Bell Syndicate

A large number of small, low-cost homes do not have an attached garage and many of them are without a detached garage.

Usually this is to keep the original cost of the dwelling at a minimum, and with the expectation of building the garage later on. However, a small garage will easily run into a price ranging from $500 to more than $1,000 at today's prices when contracted for.

In view of the fact that all cars are now winterized and that most of them are left out in the weather from sunup to sundown, it makes sense for the owner of a small house to settle for a carport.

The actual building of a carport is not a difficult thing. It involves nothing but straight hammer-and-saw work, and thousands of them have been built by amateurs.

The first step in the construction is to lay a concrete slab, four inches thick and of suitable size.

Foundation bolts, three inches long, should be embedded in the two outside corners and in the center of the outside wall. A 2-by-4 is then laid along the outer wall and rear wall with holes bored in them so that they set over the foundation bolts. The 2-by-4 wall studs, 16 inches apart, are then set up to proper height and capped with a double 2-by-4 plate. Two-by-four roof rafters are next set from a strip spoked into the house wall to the plate. Tongued and grooved sheathing is nailed over the rafters and covered with roll-roofing.

The outside finish of the walls must be of the same clapboard or shingles as the house wall and must be painted the same color. Windows or doors are not essential.

Big Camera Satellites To 'Shoot' The Earth

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Nine giant camera satellites will be fired into orbit aboard powerful Atlas missiles starting next September, informed sources say.

Persons close to the project reported Sunday the camera satellites, weighing about a ton, will be blasted into short-lived orbits to take pictures of most of the earth's surface, including the heartland of the Soviet Union.

The program, called "Project Sentry," will use a two-stage Atlas ICBM as the booster for the bulky payload.

There were no details on the camera itself or how it would perform, but it was learned that the project was shifted to the Cape from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Sentry is just one of a number of important space roles being assigned the workhouse Atlas which soared into orbit on its own last Dec. 18.

Spotters To Hold Test For Tornado Season

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau is sharpening its tornado spotting organization in "Tornado Alley."

A helicopter will impersonate a tornado in three Kansas counties along the Oklahoma border.

Most tornadoes usually are sighted in May, with June second and April third.

Blue Monday Can Be Made More Cheery

Washday Chores May Be Eased With Nice Surroundings

PORTLAND, Ore. — Doing the family laundry sometimes has been labeled one of the most odious jobs of homemaking, but the reasons given often indcate that it's not so much the job that's disliked as much as the difficulty in doing it efficiently.

In spite of miracle fabrics and automatic equipment, laundry chores are time consuming. And, as the women complain, much of the time seems to dwindle away in chasing back and forth between ironing board, washing machine and the upstairs closets.

The obvious way to cut down on the leg work and, hence, the wasted time of laundry operations is to coordinate all activities within a specific area. Then, too, a well-equipped, beautifully - designed laundry room can be a real moral booster, for pleasant surroundings often produce as much in the way of efficency as automatic equipment.

In addition to the washer, dryer, mangle and ironing board, the laundry room should be equipped with a host of built-in cabinets for storage of soaps, bleaches and other tools of the trade.

One cupboard should be set aside for the mending basket so lost buttons can be replaced before clothing is returned to the closet. Another cupboard can be a clothes hamper which slides out on a track. And a closet in which to hang freshly - ironed garments before transporting them back to the bedroom is a must.

The built-ins can be tailored easily with Douglas fir lumber to fit avaiablle wall areas in the laundry room. And if door fronts are of edge - glued pieces of fir, their appearance will be sleek and neat.

Many homemakers, following the widening use of natural woods, prefer to have their laundry room built-ins finished naturally. A sealer coat goes on first to bring out the true, tawny gold of the fir —and is followed by several coats of clear plastic lacquer to protect the cabinets from splashing and steam. If gay, feminine color is wanted, Douglas fir takes paint and enamel finishes well.

Don't forget to provide for either table or counter top space so flat work can be folded immediately. If space is at a premium, one of the cabinet doors can be designed with hinges at the bottom and a catch at the top so that it tips down to form a table.

JUST AS TOP DOWNTOWN executives have offices designed to create a pleasant atmosphere for work, so should the top executive of the home be blessed with cheerful work areas. This neat, sparkling utility room was designed specifically for the job. Area is kept uncluttered by a host of built-in cabinets, worked in malleable, tough Douglas fir and painted carnation to please a lady's taste. Slide-out clothes hamper and wide counter tops are two features sure to rate approval.

More Bathroom Space Stressed As Home Need

CHICAGO — American women want more space in the home, uncommitted to any purpose, and they want more bathrooms.

Fifty - five of the 65 women attending the Women's conference on Housing in Washington recently indicated that their first additional preference beyond the basic house of three bedrooms and a single bath was an additional half-bath or full bath.

No other item in the home, including fireplace, garage, carport, or additional bedrooms obtained so many votes.

While on many issues involving their present homes and future homes the opinions of the women were sharply divided, there was near unanimity in favor of more space in the home and more bathrooms.

Preference for an extra - half-bath ran to locating it near the rear of the house, where it could be used as a washup area for children and for men using the workroom or doing cleanup and repairs on the family automobile.

Some of the delegates suggested a half - bath for the storage area behind the carport, where it would be utilized as a "mud room" and, in the summer, as a shower room for children. The half-bath adjacent to an extra bedroom was also in popular demand.

Many of the delegates expressed their preference for colored plumbing fixtures, except where their selection would entail so much extra cost that an additional bathroom or half - bath would not be provided by the building budget.

One of the novel suggestions made by some of the delegates was for a drip - dry closet, with floor drain, similar to a shower stall. This could be installed in the utility room or in space adjoining. Discussing the increased use of drip-dry fabrics and clothing, with recommendations by manufacturers for hand - washing, the delegates were enthusiastic about this suggested drip - dry closet, properly vented for efficiency.

New Bid Made To End Columbus Paper Tieup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another negotiating session is on tap today in an effort to end a pressmen's strike against the three Columbus daily newspapers, now in its 11th day.

About 70 members of the Columbus Web Pressmen's Union, Local 15, are seeking a new contract to replace one that expired Dec. 31.

The strike began Feb. 26 over the union's demand for higher wages and more overtime pay.

Affected are the afternoon Columbus Dispatch and Columbus Citizen and the morning Ohio State Journal.

Meanwhile, another newspaper, born of the strike, will make its second appearance here today. It is the Columbus Daily News, published and staffed by Local 13 of the American Newspaper Guild.

The News, which is selling for 10 cents a copy, said in its first edition Saturday it will cease publication the day the struck newspapers resume publishing.

The paper ran about 30,000 copies of the first edition.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I loosen the tightness of shoes that pinch the feet?

A. Tight shoes that pinch can be relieved by laying a cloth, wrung out in hot water, over the area that pinches. Leave it on for several minutes. The warm moisture will cause the leather to stretch and ease the discomfort.

Q. How can I make use of left-over rice or macaroni?

A. Mix it with cooked meat and it will make a delicious filling for green peppers or tomatoes. The latter need to be cooked only 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Q. How can I preserve oilcloth?

A. Rub the oilcloth occasionally with a mixture of beeswax and turpentine, and it will last longer.

2 Die, Another Critical After Shooting Spree

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One person was killed, another critically wounded and a third took his own life when an all-night party erupted into a shooting spree here early Sunday.

Dr. Carl E. Tetrick, deputy coroner, said Mrs. Louise Saddler, 23, was fatally shot by her boy friend, Bernard Jackson, 31, who then police said, took his own life. Police said Jackson also shot Earl Clark, 39, who was reported in critical condition at Grant Hospital. All are from Columbus.

Mrs. Annabelle White, 31, the dead woman's sister, and Miss Jane Minnis, 43, Westerville, told police Jackson shot Mrs. Saddler, a divorcee, twice after the woman told him to leave. They said Jackson shot Clark and then fired a shot into his right temple.

Pennsylvanian Named America's Junior Miss

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A pretty brunette who has been talking only 10 of her 17 years today wears the title of America's Junior Miss.

Stately Miss Judi Humphrey of Lewistown, Pa., was selected from 10 finalists to climax the four-day pageant Saturday night. She squealed loudly when her name was called.

The new queen didn't talk until she was seven because of a vocal chord disorder. An operation corrected the trouble and her tireless practice brought her the diction and voice that won the spectators and judges.

Runners-up, in order, were Peggy W. Kerwin, Webster Groves, Mo.; Linda Couch, Tampa, Fla.; Diane Eleanor Lee, Nome, Alaska, and Kathleen Honish, Shorewood, Wis.

More than 15 million hens in New Jersey lay more than two billion eggs a year.

Steel Figures Set New High

Strike Fears Spur Customer Buying

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel output last week passed the 90 per cent of capacity mark and reached an all-time weekly high, "Steel" magazine reported today.

The previous weekly record of 2,525,000 tons was set Dec. 17-23, 1956. Last week, when operations gained 1.5 points to 90.5 per cent of capacity, the output was 2,562,000 net tons.

And that new record is unlikely to stand for long as the rush to buy steel continues, the weekly journal of metalworking said.

The swelling demand of customers seeking to hedge against a possible steel strike and subsequent price increase is generating its own growth, "Steel" said. This is because users are finding busy mills are slower in making deliveries, and inventories which were cut too sharply last year are insufficient to stand such delays.

Of the 12 steelmaking districts, only Cleveland, which was down 2 points, and Cincinnati, which was off a point, showed declines last week. Youngstown moved up three points to 91 per cent of capacity; Wheeling up two points to 93 per cent; Detroit up 4.5 points to 99.5 per cent; and Pittsburgh up two points to 91 per cent.

Bomb On Chief's Porch

MILES, Ohio (AP)—Police Chief John A. Ross says he has no idea who placed a bomb on his front porch. Ross revealed Sunday that five sticks of dynamite with a 14-foot fuse, which was partially burned, was discovered on his porch Friday by a mailman. Ross said the person responsible may have charred the end of the fuse and had not intended it to explode.

Gun-Toter Goes Back To Industrial School

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A 14-year-old girl must go back to the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware for her part in a forced auto ride at gunpoint.

Juvenile Judge David Black ordered the action Saturday for the girl, a county ward who said she just wanted to see her mother, a waitress.

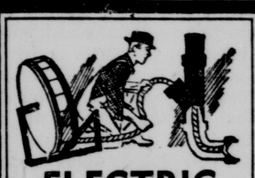

The girl was captured here after the nine-mile trip from nearby Auburn last Wednesday.

Officers said she took a five-year-old boy along for half the ride as a hostage, but freed him at Millville. The rest of the trip, police said, was with the gun at the ribs of the driver, George McGuire, 35.

Underground Leader Ends Cyprus Fight

Followers Are Told To Join Makarios In Rebuilding Country

NICOSIA (AP) — The leader of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground, finally told his followers today to lay down their arms and unite behind Archbishop Makarios in the building of the Republic of Cyprus.

"I am obliged to order the cessation of the struggle," said Col. George Grivas in a mimeographed leaflet distributed from his secret hideout on Cyprus. He expressed disappointment Cyprus had not won union with Greece—EIOKA's original aim—but said independence "is preferable to national disruption."

Grivas, who is 62, told his followers he was retiring and would not take part in politics or public life, either in Cyprus or in Greece.

Although he remained in hiding, Grivas was expected to fly to Athens in the next few days. The British government, which formerly had a price of $28,000 on his head, had promised him safe conduct to Greece.

The guerrilla chief indicated he would not return to Cyprus, his homeland. He said he would "follow anxiously from afar the steps of my suffering and bloodstained motherland."

"Now we must have discipline," he told his people. "Foregather all of the united around the Ethnarch (Markarios) who is today the symbol of unity and strength and help him in his difficult task." The proclamation was signed "EOKA the leader Dighenis," the alias Grivas borrowed from a legendary Greek hero.

The little leaflet was the first word from Grivas on the peace agreement signed by Britain, Greece, Turkey and Cypriot political leaders in London Feb. 19.

School Vocational Series Launched

The annual Vocational Conference Week at East Liverpool High School opened today with a general assembly.

W. E. Hoare, director of employe relations of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of Columbus, was keynote speaker. David Sixt, Student Council president, presided. The assembly opened with selections by the Concert Band, directed by Donald Allen.

The actual conferences, at which men and women prominent in various fields will speak, will begin Tuesday morning with meetings in 11 fields. The conferences will be held daily tomorrow through Friday from 9 to 9:50 a. m.

Memorial Day Group Airs Fund Programs

Plans to resume a "penny drill" in Wellsville schools and sponsor a record hop were discussed at a meeting of the Joint Memorial Day committee Thursday night at the home of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647.

Melvin Boggs, secretary, said the proceeds would be used to help defray expenses of the program.

Mrs. Delores Excell, president of American Legion Post 70 auxiliary, was named to invite gold star mothers to the ceremonies. Assignments were made for committee members to contact various ministers for their roles in the program.

The program will begin at the Roadside Park and move to 4th St. for a flag raising ceremony. It will conclude with services in Springhill Cemetery.

The chief worry of most motorists is the state of their tires, according to a recent survey. Second was the brakes.

Children Of The Bible

RUTH

"And Ruth said, Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go . . ."

—Ruth 1:16

Simple charm, faith, patience—that was Ruth.

She grew up in the land of Moab, on the east side of the deep gulf of the Dead Sea. There the rich, rolling country in her day produced abundant crops which supported a large number of cities, the ruins of which are still scattered across the whole region.

Her village was surrounded with orchards, vineyards, and fields of grain. From a very early age, Ruth was probably accustomed to help her family with tasks such as harvesting and winnowing the grain, picking the heavy ripe clusters of grapes from the sunny hillsides, and helping with the sowing.

At home, she helped her mother with household chores: stirring the supper stew with a big clay ladle, or lifting meat from the broiler with a heavy bronze spearing-fork that her small hands could scarcely manage.

Squatting with the women around the bee-hive baking pot on a cold day, she often listened quietly to the gossip that accompanied the village baking.

The topics of discussion were the same that have occupied women since the beginning of time—new recipes and remedies, the cost of living, a neighbor's sickness, rumors of war.

But the stories of a wife's devotion or a mother's self-sacrifice and loyalty stirred Ruth's imagination most. It seemed to her that unselfish love was a woman's most priceless virtue.

Later, when her foreign husband had died, it was this sense of love and duty that made her choose to go with Naomi, her mother-in-law back to Bethlehem. She knew that a Moabite would not be welcome, but she said, "Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God."

So in the little town of Bethlehem she married Boaz and became an ancestress of Jesus.

Love like Ruth's knows no national boundaries and no religious barriers.

Salineville Man Cited In Crash With City Car

Walter Dickson, 18, of Salineville R. D. 2 was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after he pulled his car from the curb and into the side of another driven by Bobby Davis of East Liverpool Friday at 11:15 a. m. on E. Main St. at Salineville.

The accident occurred in front of the police station, according to Police Chief Cleo Mellott. Dickson will receive a hearing Thursday night before Mayor Karl Lindner.

Scooter Vote Due Tonight

Quail Bill Action Slated On Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Legislature starts another week of work with two controversial proposals up for early decision in the House.

Representatives vote tonight on repeal of motor scooter licenses for 14 and 15-year-olds.

Tomorrow, they vote on an oft-defeated measure to permit quail hunting in Ohio.

Both bills have attracted more witnesses and spectators to House committee hearings than any other pending proposals this session—with the possible exception of a measure to outlaw capital punishment.

The scooter bill, a combination of eight measures offered in the House, would cancel licenses held by those under 16 upon enactment. An exception is provided for so-called hardship cases.

Quail-hunting has been an issue in the Legislature ever since "Bob White" was put on the protected songbird list. Ten years ago the lawmakers declared quail a game bird for propagation purposes only.

Sportsmen now want the Legislature to authorize quail hunting on lands owned or controlled by the state.

The measure to substitute life imprisonment for the death penalty in first degree murder cases receives a third hearing in the House Judiciary Committee Wednesday. Opponents are scheduled to testify.

House Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield) said at least a half dozen measures would be placed on the House calendar for a vote on the floor during the week.

Senators also expect to act on a number of measures now that the deadline for introduction of bills is past. New proposals now can be offered only if members in either house agree to suspension of rules. When the deadline fell Thursday, a record 1,589 bills were in the legislative hopper, 250 more than the 1957 high.

Underground Leader Ends Cyprus Fight

Followers Are Told To Join Makarios In Rebuilding Country

NICOSIA (AP) — The leader of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground, finally told his followers today to lay down their arms and unite behind Archbishop Makarios in the building of the Republic of Cyprus.

"I am obliged to order the cessation of the struggle," said Col. George Grivas in a mimeographed leaflet distributed from his secret hideout on Cyprus. He expressed disappointment Cyprus had not won union with Greece—EIOKA's original aim—but said independence "is preferable to national disruption."

Grivas, who is 62, told his followers he was retiring and would not take part in politics or public life, either in Cyprus or in Greece.

Although he remained in hiding, Grivas was expected to fly to Athens in the next few days. The British government, which formerly had a price of $28,000 on his head, had promised him safe conduct to Greece.

The guerrilla chief indicated he would not return to Cyprus, his homeland. He said he would "follow anxiously from afar the steps of my suffering and bloodstained motherland."

"Now we must have discipline," he told his people. "Foregather all of the united around the Ethnarch (Markarios) who is today the symbol of unity and strength and help him in his difficult task." The proclamation was signed "EOKA the leader Dighenis," the alias Grivas borrowed from a legendary Greek hero.

The little leaflet was the first word from Grivas on the peace agreement signed by Britain, Greece, Turkey and Cypriot political leaders in London Feb. 19.

School Vocational Series Launched

W. E. Hoare, director of employe relations of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of Columbus, was keynote speaker. David Sixt, Student Council president, presided. The assembly opened with selections by the Concert Band, directed by Donald Allen.

The actual conferences, at which men and women prominent in various fields will speak, will begin Tuesday morning with meetings in 11 fields. The conferences will be held daily tomorrow through Friday from 9 to 9:50 a. m.

Memorial Day Group Airs Fund Programs

Plans to resume a "penny drill" in Wellsville schools and sponsor a record hop were discussed at a meeting of the Joint Memorial Day committee Thursday night at the home of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647.

Melvin Boggs, secretary, said the proceeds would be used to help defray expenses of the program.

Mrs. Delores Excell, president of American Legion Post 70 auxiliary, was named to invite gold star mothers to the ceremonies. Assignments were made for committee members to contact various ministers for their roles in the program.

The program will begin at the Roadside Park and move to 4th St. for a flag raising ceremony. It will conclude with services in Springhill Cemetery.

The chief worry of most motorists is the state of their tires, according to a recent survey. Second was the brakes.

RUTH

"And Ruth said, Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go . . ."

—Ruth 1:16

Simple charm, faith, patience—that was Ruth.

She grew up in the land of Moab, on the east side of the deep gulf of the Dead Sea. There the rich, rolling country in her day produced abundant crops which supported a large number of cities, the ruins of which are still scattered across the whole region.

Her village was surrounded with orchards, vineyards, and fields of grain. From a very early age, Ruth was probably accustomed to help her family with tasks such as harvesting and winnowing the grain, picking the heavy ripe clusters of grapes from the sunny hillsides, and helping with the sowing.

At home, she helped her mother with household chores: stirring the supper stew with a big clay ladle, or lifting meat from the broiler with a heavy bronze spearing-fork that her small hands could scarcely manage.

Squatting with the women around the bee-hive baking pot on a cold day, she often listened quietly to the gossip that accompanied the village baking.

The topics of discussion were the same that have occupied women since the beginning of time—new recipes and remedies, the cost of living, a neighbor's sickness, rumors of war.

But the stories of a wife's devotion or a mother's self-sacrifice and loyalty stirred Ruth's imagination most. It seemed to her that unselfish love was a woman's most priceless virtue.

Later, when her foreign husband had died, it was this sense of love and duty that made her choose to go with Naomi, her mother-in-law back to Bethlehem. She knew that a Moabite would not be welcome, but she said, "Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God."

So in the little town of Bethlehem she married Boaz and became an ancestress of Jesus.

Love like Ruth's knows no national boundaries and no religious barriers.

Scooter Vote Due Tonight

Quail Bill Action Slated On Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Legislature starts another week of work with two controversial proposals up for early decision in the House.

Representatives vote tonight on repeal of motor scooter licenses for 14 and 15-year-olds.

Tomorrow, they vote on an oft-defeated measure to permit quail hunting in Ohio.

Both bills have attracted more witnesses and spectators to House committee hearings than any other pending proposals this session—with the possible exception of a measure to outlaw capital punishment.

The scooter bill, a combination of eight measures offered in the House, would cancel licenses held by those under 16 upon enactment. An exception is provided for so-called hardship cases.

Quail-hunting has been an issue in the Legislature ever since "Bob White" was put on the protected songbird list. Ten years ago the lawmakers declared quail a game bird for propagation purposes only.

Sportsmen now want the Legislature to authorize quail hunting on lands owned or controlled by the state.

The measure to substitute life imprisonment for the death penalty in first degree murder cases receives a third hearing in the House Judiciary Committee Wednesday. Opponents are scheduled to testify.

House Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield) said at least a half dozen measures would be placed on the House calendar for a vote on the floor during the week.

Senators also expect to act on a number of measures now that the deadline for introduction of bills is past. New proposals now can be offered only if members in either house agree to suspension of rules. When the deadline fell Thursday, a record 1,589 bills were in the legislative hopper, 250 more than the 1957 high.

Salem Hurdles Youngstown Chaney To Gain Regionals

Quakers' Next Foe Is Canton Lincoln

YOUNGSTOWN — After recording its biggest victory of the season, Salem will move into the regional tournament action for the first time since 1946 when the Quakers meet Canton Lincoln Wednesday at Kent.

Coach John Cabas' team won its most important test of the year by edging a strong Youngstown Chaney five, 54-51, Saturday night before 3,847 fans who were packed into the South High Fieldhouse here.

A thriller all the way, the contest went down to the last minute of play before Salem gained its 22nd victory in 23 games.

The only loss on Salem's impressive record was to defending champion, Cleveland East Tech.

Big Lou Slaby, Salem's husky center, led a late rally that carried the Quakers to their three-point margin. Slaby scored two quick goals in the waning minutes to keep the Quakers on top.

Woody Deitch, the clever southpaw and all-Ohio candidate, tossed in 19 points and was a standout.

Behind Deitch was Slaby, who scored 15 points and was a rugged performer on the boards. Dave Hunter contributed 12 points to the attack.

Ron Sabo, Chaney's great performer, scored only 10 points but was hindered by four personal fouls in the first quarter. He didn't see any action in the second period and was finally inserted back into the lineup in the third.

Clark Avery was the big gun for Chaney with 18 points.

Chaney took the lead at the end of the first period 21-15 and still held a 32-29 edge at halftime. Salem caught fire in the third period and moved out to a 44-41 margin when the quarter had expired.

Chaney and Salem entered the game with identical 21-1 records.

West Virginia Teams Enter Regional Play

By The Associated Press

Two first-round games in Triple A Region 4 at Charleston's Civic Center Wednesday night will touch off a 28-game scholastic basketball program leading up to the state championship tournaments March 20-21 at Huntington.

The Class AAA and Class AA regional tournaments will produce four finalists apiece for the championship battling at Memorial Field House in Huntington.

The little schools, Class A, will send four area champions into the title tournament in a three-stage elimination process.

Defending big school champion Parkersburg was bumped out of contention by Clarksburg Victory in Section 3 play Friday night. The best records among regional title contenders in Class AAA belong to Princeton (20-1) and St. Albans (20-2).

Ansted, which won last year's little school or Class B toga, is very much alive. The Highlanders (23-0) have a 48 - game victory streak stretching back to last season.

There is no Double A defending champion because that category was created this school year with the advent of a new football rating system.

Startling upsets were at a minimum in earlier tournament firing. However, Poca raced into the Region 4 event at St. Albans with a victory over Sissonville in Class AA. Sissonville had beaten the Dots in two regular season meetings.

Ceredo-Kenova pulled the same turnabout in Class AA, with Huntington Vinson the unexpected victim. Benwood Union, which had beaten Follansbee twice during the season, was dumped out of the Section 1-AA battling by Follansbee, 84-72.

Fairview started the upset pattern in Class A by knocking out unbeaten Barrackville in a sectional tournament game.

The tourney line-ups, by classes, include the following:

Class AAA

Region 1 at Moundsville — Moundsville (11-10) vs. Clarksburg Victory (11-10) Thursday. Clarksburg Washington Irving (15-4) vs. Weirton (16-5) Friday. Finals Saturday.

Region 2 at Morgantown — Martinsburg (13-8) vs. Richwood (17-4; and Fairmont West (17-4) vs. Elkins (17-4) Friday. Finals Saturday.

Region 3 at Fayetteville—Welch (13-8) vs. DuPont (17-5) Thursday. Princeton (20-1) vs. Beckley (17-4) Friday. Finals Saturday.

Region 4 at Charleston — St. Albans (20-2) vs. Huntington (14-4) and Logan (11-9) vs. South Charleston (19-3) Wednesday. Finals Friday.

Class AA

Region 1 at Parkersburg — Point Pleasant (13-10) vs. New Martinsville (12-9) and Follansbee (11-12) vs. Clay-Battelle (16-5) Friday. Finals Saturday.

Region 2 at Weston — Gassaway (17-5) vs. Weston (17-6) and Parsons (19-1) vs. Keyser (19-3) Friday. Finals Saturday.

Region 3 at Princeton — Northfork-Elkhorn (21-1) vs. Mullens (13-9) and Beckley Stratton (9-13) vs. Peterstown (16-6) Thursday. Finals Saturday.

Region 4 at St. Albans — Lookout (6-15) vs. Ceredo-Kenova (6-15) and Poca (11-11) vs. Matewan (22-1) Thursday. Finals Saturday.

Class A Area Finals

Area 1 — Sherrard (19-5) vs. Fairview (18-6), tentatively Friday at Moundsville.

Area 2 — Rowlesburg (21-3) vs. Piedmont (15-10) at Petersburg Friday.

Area 3 — White Sulphur Springs (19-6) vs. Athens (18-7) at Hinton Friday.

Area 4 — Ansted (23-0) vs. Williamson Liberty (20-4). Site and date to be decided.

Fraley, a senior, piled up 331 points for Coach Les Douglas' Irons—ranking him eighth among Eastern Ohio single-A performers. Fraley connected for 128 field goals and hit 57 of 76 at the free throw line.

His average per game of 19.6 was third highest in Jefferson County. Tom Hauner of Dillonvale was the county's leading scorer with a 24.1 average and Brilliant's Jim Presley was second with 20.8.

Midland USW Wins Tourney

Midland USW won the Beaver Valley's Official tournament by defeating the Derf five of Beaver Falls, 109-70, Saturday night at New Brighton.

Bill Blair, former Geneva College star who was voted most valuable player, paced Midland in its final game with 23 points. Don Schena, the high-scoring ace for Geneva this past season, dropped in 18.

Midland captured the semi-final contest with a 114-86 victory over Riverview of Beaver Falls as Blair and Tom Yancy collected 23 points apiece to lead the attack.

Blair and John Swogger were voted on the all-tourney team.

Fire Claims Life Of SMU Cage Ace

RUSTON, La. (AP) — Bobby James, the only junior selected on the 1959 All-Southwest Conference basketball team, died in a fire at his family home Sunday.

Funeral services for the 20-year-old outstanding Southern Methodist University athlete were to be held today, with six teammates as pallbearers.

James, one of the conference's top performers, died in the fire after an evening with his fiancee, Miss Sandra Woodward. A June wedding had been planned.

A preliminary investigation indicated the blaze started in a bathroom wall heater and the youth apparently suffocated, fire chief James Mabry said.

James, 6 feet 5 inches tall, had been considered for All-America honors.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. James, and two brothers, G. W. James Jr. of Ruston and Tommy James of Pascagoula, Miss.

United And Columbiana Ousted At Canton

Eagles Lose To Defending Champs, 79-44

CANTON — Northwestern continued on its way to a second straight Ohio title by rolling over United, 79-44, in the finals of the Class "A" district tournament Saturday night at the City Auditorium here.

A 44-point performance by Dean Chance, a veteran who led the Huskies to a state championship last year, was the difference.

Chance, 6-foot-3, was the tallest player on the floor and pumped in 18 goals and 8 fouls.

The victory placed Northwestern in the regional eliminations also set for Canton this week.

It was the first tournament appearance for United, a 4-year-old school which won the Columbiana County tournament, Canton Sectional, then made it into the District finals by defeating Fairport Harbor Friday night.

The defeat left Coach Bob Penrod's squad with a fine 20-4 record for the season.

United was in the game for the first quarter and gained an early lead, but Northwestern has a 16-10 edge when the first period ended.

With Chance virtually unstoppable, Northwestern took a 35-20 margin at halftime, then settled the issue with a 55-34 lead after three periods.

Behind Chance in the scoring was Johnson with 16 and Gortner with 12.

Jm Summer, leading scorer for United, collected 15 points and was the only player to reach the double figures for the Golden Eagles.

Northwestern hit an outstanding 50 per cent of its shots, connecting on 31 of 61 attempts. United fired 38 per cent, with 20 of 52.

Oscar Wraps Up Scoring Title For 2 Years In Row

By The Associated Press

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati has wrapped up the major college individual scoring title for the second straight year.

Robertson dropped Saturday when he scored only 24 points while Cincinnati was losing to Bradley. But his 33.6 average gave him a big lead over his next four rivals, who have completed their seasons.

Leo Byrd of Marshall was runner-up with a 29.3 average.

Jerry West of West Virginia, in six place with a 25.62 average and Kansas State's Bob Boozer, seventh at 25.58, are the only other members of the top 10 scorers who have not completed their seasons.

HE RE-GREW HAIR

George W. Swoyer (Near Reading, Pa.) shows he regrew hair by the Lesley Home Treatment Method.

Hair Specialist Here Tomorrow; Will Show How To Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

The Lesley Hair & Scalp Consultants' representative, C. L. CLARK, will personally examine hair worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 P. M. tomorrow, TUESDAY, MARCH 10, 1959, only at the TRAVELERS HOTEL in EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

The Lesley Specialists point out that remarkable results have been attained by means of a personal examination followed by simple individual treatments that anyone can easily carry out in the privacy of his or her own home. Regular checkups in your city by a Lesley Specialist assure success in the minimum period of time.

WHAT CAUSES BALDNESS

Actually, the two most common causes of baldness are neglect and mistreatment of the hair.

Baldness in its common forms does not come suddenly; it is a gradual starvation and shrinking of the hair follicles until no hair growing ability remains. Hair loss begins with its warning signs of dandruff, itchy or tender scalp, falling hair, or an excessive oily or dry scalp. Once these symptoms are noticed, immediate steps should be taken to check these growth-destroying conditions before fatal follicle shrinkage ruins all hopes for hair replacement.

CAN NEW METHODS PREVENT BALDNESS?

The reson more men and women do not avail themselves of this new treatment is that they have been misinformed about the causes of baldness. These people have been falsely told there is no possible way to prevent baldness. For instance, many have come to believe that baldness is hereditary and that nothing can be done about it. Still others think that baldness is inevitable with age. So they resign themselves to their embarrassing condition without even bothering to investgiate. With all the miracles that have been discovered in the past 20 years it is reasonable to believe that remarkable strides have been made in treating the causes of baldness.

Of course, we must have a client who still has some hair. If a person is completely bald, he waited too long and is refused treatment. However, if your scalp is still producing short hair it is possible to at least save and thicken what you have.

FREE EXAMINATION

If you have a hair problem, we suggest you come in for a free examination. We tell you frankly what you can expect from treatment, how long it will take and how much it will cost.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE

The Lesley Organization gives a written guarantee when you are accepted for a scalp treatment. You must be satisfied within 30 days or money will be refunded.

DON'T PUT IT OFF

Stop by the TRAVELERS HOTEL TUESDAY only, MARCH 10 1959, between 1:00 P. M. and 8:00 P. M. Ask the desk for MR CLARK'S room number. He does not work by appointment. Come at your convenience. Examinations are given privately. You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way.

Salem Hurdles Youngstown Chaney To Gain Regionals

Quakers' Next Foe Is Canton Lincoln

YOUNGSTOWN — After recording its biggest victory of the season, Salem will move into the regional tournament action for the first time since 1946 when the Quakers meet Canton Lincoln Wednesday at Kent.

Coach John Cabas' team won its most important test of the year by edging a strong Youngstown Chaney five, 54-51, Saturday night before 3,847 fans who were packed into the South High Fieldhouse here.

A thriller all the way, the contest went down to the last minute of play before Salem gained its 22nd victory in 23 games.

The only loss on Salem's impressive record was to defending champion, Cleveland East Tech.

Big Lou Slaby, Salem's husky center, led a late rally that carried the Quakers to their three-point margin. Slaby scored two quick goals in the waning minutes to keep the Quakers on top.

Woody Deitch, the clever southpaw and all-Ohio candidate, tossed in 19 points and was a standout.

Behind Deitch was Slaby, who scored 15 points and was a rugged performer on the boards. Dave Hunter contributed 12 points to the attack.

Ron Sabo, Chaney's great performer, scored only 10 points but was hindered by four personal fouls in the first quarter. He didn't see any action in the second period and was finally inserted back into the lineup in the third.

Clark Avery was the big gun for Chaney with 18 points.

Chaney took the lead at the end of the first period 21-15 and still held a 32-29 edge at halftime. Salem caught fire in the third period and moved out to a 44-41 margin when the quarter had expired.

Chaney and Salem entered the game with identical 21-1 records.

West Virginia Teams Enter Regional Play

By The Associated Press

Two first-round games in Triple A Region 4 at Charleston's Civic Center Wednesday night will touch off a 28-game scholastic basketball program leading up to the state championship tournaments March 20-21 at Huntington.

The Class AAA and Class AA regional tournaments will produce four finalists apiece for the championship battling at Memorial Field House in Huntington.

The little schools, Class A, will send four area champions into the title tournament in a three-stage elimination process.

Defending big school champion Parkersburg was bumped out of contention by Clarksburg Victory in Section 3 play Friday night. The best records among regional title contenders in Class AAA belong to Princeton (20-1) and St. Albans (20-2).

Ansted, which won last year's little school or Class B toga, is very much alive. The Highlanders (23-0) have a 48 - game victory streak stretching back to last season.

There is no Double A defending champion because that category was created this school year with the advent of a new football rating system.

Startling upsets were at a minimum in earlier tournament firing. However, Poca raced into the Region 4 event at St. Albans with a victory over Sissonville in Class AA. Sissonville had beaten the Dots in two regular season meetings.

Ceredo-Kenova pulled the same turnabout in Class AA, with Huntington Vinson the unexpected victim. Benwood Union, which had beaten Follansbee twice during the season, was dumped out of the Section 1-AA battling by Follansbee, 84-72.

Fairview started the upset pattern in Class A by knocking out unbeaten Barrackville in a sectional tournament game.

The tourney line-ups, by classes, include the following:

Class AAA

Region 1 at Moundsville — Moundsville (11-10) vs. Clarksburg Victory (11-10) Thursday. Clarksburg Washington Irving (15-4) vs. Weirton (16-5) Friday. Finals Saturday.

Region 2 at Morgantown — Martinsburg (13-8) vs. Richwood (17-4; and Fairmont West (17-4) vs. Elkins (17-4) Friday. Finals Saturday.

Class AA

Region 3 at Princeton — Northfork-Elkhorn (21-1) vs. Mullens (13-9) and Beckley Stratton (9-13) vs. Peterstown (16-6) Thursday. Finals Saturday.

Region 4 at St. Albans — Lookout (6-15) vs. Ceredo-Kenova (6-15) and Poca (11-11) vs. Matewan (22-1) Thursday. Finals Saturday.

Class A Area Finals

Area 1 — Sherrard (19-5) vs. Fairview (18-6), tentatively Friday at Moundsville.

Area 2 — Rowlesburg (21-3) vs. Piedmont (15-10) at Petersburg Friday.

Eagles Lose To Defending Champs, 79-44

CANTON — Northwestern continued on its way to a second straight Ohio title by rolling over United, 79-44, in the finals of the Class "A" district tournament Saturday night at the City Auditorium here.

A 44-point performance by Dean Chance, a veteran who led the Huskies to a state championship last year, was the difference.

The victory placed Northwestern in the regional eliminations also set for Canton this week.

It was the first tournament appearance for United, a 4-year-old school which won the Columbiana County tournament, Canton Sectional, then made it into the District finals by defeating Fairport Harbor Friday night.

The defeat left Coach Bob Penrod's squad with a fine 20-4 record for the season.

The Lesley Hair & Scalp Consultants' representative, C. L. CLARK, will personally examine hair worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 P. M. tomorrow, TUESDAY, MARCH 10, 1959, only at the TRAVELERS HOTEL in EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

The Lesley Specialists point out that remarkable results have been attained by means of a personal examination followed by simple individual treatments that anyone can easily carry out in the privacy of his or her own home. Regular checkups in your city by a Lesley Specialist assure success in the minimum period of time.

WHAT CAUSES BALDNESS

Actually, the two most common causes of baldness are neglect and mistreatment of the hair.

Baldness in its common forms does not come suddenly; it is a gradual starvation and shrinking of the hair follicles until no hair growing ability remains. Hair loss begins with its warning signs of dandruff, itchy or tender scalp, falling hair, or an excessive oily or dry scalp. Once these symptoms are noticed, immediate steps should be taken to check these growth-destroying conditions before fatal follicle shrinkage ruins all hopes for hair replacement.

CAN NEW METHODS PREVENT BALDNESS?

The reson more men and women do not avail themselves of this new treatment is that they have been misinformed about the causes of baldness. These people have been falsely told there is no possible way to prevent baldness. For instance, many have come to believe that baldness is hereditary and that nothing can be done about it. Still others think that baldness is inevitable with age. So they resign themselves to their embarrassing condition without even bothering to investgiate. With all the miracles that have been discovered in the past 20 years it is reasonable to believe that remarkable strides have been made in treating the causes of baldness.

Of course, we must have a client who still has some hair. If a person is completely bald, he waited too long and is refused treatment. However, if your scalp is still producing short hair it is possible to at least save and thicken what you have.

FREE EXAMINATION

If you have a hair problem, we suggest you come in for a free examination. We tell you frankly what you can expect from treatment, how long it will take and how much it will cost.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE

The Lesley Organization gives a written guarantee when you are accepted for a scalp treatment. You must be satisfied within 30 days or money will be refunded.

DON'T PUT IT OFF

Stop by the TRAVELERS HOTEL TUESDAY only, MARCH 10 1959, between 1:00 P. M. and 8:00 P. M. Ask the desk for MR CLARK'S room number. He does not work by appointment. Come at your convenience. Examinations are given privately. You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way.

'Sweet 16' Remain In Regional Play

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Cleveland East Tech is to repeat as Ohio's Class AA high school basketball champion, the Scarabs will have to get over a pretty high hurdle in their first regional tourney test.

The surviving 16 teams in each classification drew opponents for the regionals Sunday, and East Tech was matched for Wednesday night with Elyria in the qualifier at Berea.

The Scarabs have won 21 straight this year, and 47 over the last two campaigns — but Elyria has a 23-game streak going for this season.

This one would be a natural for the state championship finals—the Scarabs are No. 1 in The Associated Press poll and Elyria is No. 3—but one must fall in the "lose-and-out" event Wednesday.

Northwestern of Wayne County, ruler of the Class A contingent and the only survivor of last year's four-team state tourney cast, puts its 23-2 record on the line against Midvale (22-1) at Canton Friday night. If the champs get by that one, they go against the winner of the Old Washington (27-1,-Braceville (25-2) contest in quest of a state tourney berth.

The 16 Class AA teams left of the 412 which started tournament play have a combined record of 301 victories and 53 losses—with East Tech, Elyria and Akron Central (19-0) boasting the only unsullied records.

The "sweet 16" in Class A, survivors of a starting field of 601, have won 354 and lost only 36. Four of them, Convoy-Union (26), Racine (25), Salem Local (25) and New Boston (22), are unbeaten. Racine and New Boston are in the four-team regional field at Athens.

Only Northwestern of the Class A group has ever won the state title. But in Class AA, in addition to East Tech, are seven - time champion Middletown, Columbus East, Springfield, New Philadelphia and Xenia, along with Sandusky St. Mary, former Class A king now graduated to the big league.

Regional games are scheduled Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the semi - finals — with all championship games Saturday as each class names four qualifiers for the state meet here March 20-21.

The qualifiers will meet at 11 a.m., Sunday, March 15, at Ohio Union on the Ohio State campus for the state pairings and to pick up ticket allotments for the climactic contests.

After Saturday's Loss To Bradley

Cincinnati Needs Victory Tonight To Gain Spot In NCAA Tournament

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who gets basketball's Oscar? The National Invitation Tournament or the NCAA Championships?

The question could be answered tonight when Oscar Robertson, the second straight year, leads the Cincinnati Bearcats against the St. Louis Billikens at Cincinnati.

If Cincinnati wins, the Bearcats will be in the NCAA title event as the Missouri Valley Conference representative with Texas Christian their first opponent at Lawrence, Kan., Friday. Bradley then would fill the last open spot in the 12-team NIT play opening at New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday.

Should St. Louis defeat Cincinnati, the question will be answered at Wichita, Kan., Wednesday with the Braves and Bearcats meeting in a playoff. Cincinnati has a 12-1 conference record and Bradley 12-2 after breaking even in a home-and-home series. St. Louis, already in the NIT, is third at 10-3.

The Missouri Valley Conference bracket is one of the two remaining spots to be filled before 23 teams start play in the NCAA title event. The other is the Border Conference for which New Mexico State and Arizona State University meet for the title tonight. The Border ended in a three-way deadlock but New Mexico eliminated Texas Western 65-48 in the first play-off game Saturday night.

Two brackets were filled in play-off games Saturday. Dartmouth edged Princeton 69-68 for the right to represent the Ivy League and Bowling Green beat Miami of Ohio 76-63 to get the nod from the Mid-American Conference.

Meantime, DePaul got the jump on the remainder of the NCAA championship field by turning back Portland 57-56 in a first round game between two at-large selections at Portland. The victory moved DePaul into the Lawrence regional, where the Demons will meet Kansas State, Big Eight champions, Friday.

Here's how other first round play shapes up in NCAA action:

Tuesday at New York—West Virginia vs. Dartmouth; Connecticut vs. Boston University; North Carolina vs. Navy. The winners join St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania in Charlotte, N.C., Friday and Saturday.

Tuesday at Lexington, Ky.—Eastern Kentucky vs. Louisville; Bowling Green at Marquette. The winners move on to Evanston, Ill., Friday and Saturday for the Mid-East regionals into which Kentucky and Michigan State drew a bye.

Wednesday at Tempe, Ariz., or State College, N.M. —Border Conference representative vs Idaho State. The winner takes on St. Mary's (Calif.) in one game and California meets Utah in the other Friday at San Francisco.

The four brackets for the Mid-West regional at Lawrence Friday and Saturday already have been filled. From the four regionals will come the winners for the semifinals at Lexington, Ky., March 20.

In the small college field, the NCAA narrowed its field to eight, the NAIA to 32 over the weekend. The eight NCAA small college teams clash at Evansville, Ind., Wednesday with the semifinals scheduled for Thursday and the finals Friday. The NAIA swings into action in Kansas City today with eight first round games on deck. The other eight, including defending champion Tennessee A&I, play their first round games Tuesday. Finals are Saturday night.

Pairings for the Evansville tournament are, North Carolina A&T vs American University, St. Michael's (Vt) vs Evansville, Hope vs Southwest Missouri and South Dakota State vs Los Angeles State.

Cincinnati could have settled the Missouri Valley question Saturday but fell before Bradley 84-66 as Robertson scored only 24 points. His average is 33.6.

North Carolina qualified for NCAA play Friday and then lost an 80-56 decision to North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament. N.C. State, however, is on probation and not eligible for the NCAA tourney.

Other entries in the NCAA' big college field ended their regular season in a blaze of glory. Michigan State thumped Iowa 84-74, Kansas State crushed Missouri 108-69 with Bob Boozer getting 32 points, California nipped Oregon State 55-52 and Utah turned back Colorado State University 68-61.

Giants Interested In Braves' Conley

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The word floating back and forth between the Arizona Cactus and the Florida citrus is that the San Francisco Giants could win the National League pennant this year if. . .

The if is another right-handed pitcher. His name is Gene Conley and at the moment he is performing for the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn., and carrying on side feud with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves don't like the idea of their chattel playing basketball when he could be working out with the club, for which he didn't win a game last year.

He is trade bait, and the Giants have admitted they've reached the talking stage of a deal for the lanky right-hander. But so far the asking price has been too high.

A case in point happened Sunday when the Cleveland Indians licked the Giants, 3-2, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Paul Giel forced in the winning run in the eighth inning by walking pitcher John Briggs. Vic Power, who had opened the inning with a triple, scored and that was the ball game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, another sleeper in the NL, scored their second victory over the champion Milwaukee Braves, a 2-1, decision at Bradentown, Fla. Bob Porterfield, Don Rowe and Laurin Pepper combined to hold the Braves to four hits. Both Pirate runs were unearned.

The world champion New York Yankees, held hitless for seven innings, outlasted the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in 11 innings at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Elsewhere on the exhibition circuit, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Kansas City A's, 3-2, in 14 innings at Miami; the Washington Senators eked out an 8-7 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in 11 innings at Lakeland, Fla.; the Boston Red Sox won 12-8 from the Chicago Cubs at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, at Clearwater, Fla., and the Chicago White Sox stopped the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3, at Tampa, Fla.

Ohio Colleges Near Windup

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's collegiate cage campaign was practically a matter of history today, and the final chapter of the 1959 saga was a dilly.

After a full season of maneuvering, the clubs were forced down to the wire to reach decisions in three conference races — and another hinges on a game tonight.

The big one tonight has Cincinnati's Bearcats hosting St. Louis, and the Queen City powerhouse must win to grab the undisputed Missouri Valley Conference crown. The Bearcats lost a chance to wrap it up Saturday as they lost to second-place Bradley 84-66 after leading by eight at halftime.

Should St. Louis upset the 'Cats, Bradley will share the laurels.

In other eye-catching action last week, Wittenberg handed Akron its first Ohio Conference defeat, 70-52, the Springfield Lutherans taking the championship on the sprawling 14-college circuit. A bid to the small college NCAA tourney went with the victory, but Wittenberg bowed out of that arena in the second game.

Miami, king of the rugged Mid-American Conference the last two years, and leader all the way this season, lost its last two games and allowed Bowling Green to ease in for half the championship. In a playoff for the NCAA berth which goes with the M-A title, Bowling Green was a convincing 76-63 victor on Dayton's neutral floor.

John Carroll snagged the Presidents' Conference championship in the final game Saturday, winding up with 10-1 to Washington and Jefferson's 9-1 record. Case, leader most of the season, finished third after losing several players in mid-year tests.

Following tonight's St. Louis-Cincinnati game, only Tuesday's Western Reserve at Fenn tilt, and a few tournament games, remain on the Buckeye agenda.

Second Spot Stirs Merry Scramble In Hockey League

By The Associated Press

With two weeks remaining in the regular National Hockey League schedule, a merry scramble is being set up for second place among the Chicago Black Hawks, Boston Bruins and New York Rangers.

It's like a game of musical chairs with the Stanley Cup playoffs ahead. Nobody wants third place and have to meet the champion Montreal Canadiens in the preliminary cup round. The second and fourth place teams meet in the other semifinal playoff.

The Black Hawks have dropped three straight games and their hold on second place is shaky. The Canadiens defeated Chicago 2 - 1 Sunday night on Phil Goyette's goal in the third period. The fourth place Rangers had drubbed Chicago 6-1 Saturday in a nationally televised game.

The Rangers kept up their hot pace Sunday night by downing the Detroit Red Wings 4-2, while third place Boston closed within two points of Chicago by edging the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3. On Saturday, Toronto turned back Boston 4-1 and Montreal drubbed Detroit 10-2.

In points, Chicago has 65, Boston 63 and New York 62.

NAIA Tourney Opens At Kansas City Floor

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The basketball tournament that offers a bit of everything — the National Intercollegiate (NAIA) — opens in Municipal Auditorium today.

Top seeded and champions the last two tournaments, Tennessee A&I of Nashville has a veteran squad headed by Dick Barnett, all-tournament player last year. The Tigers lost only one of 28 games this season. Their first round opponent will be Nebraska Wesleyan (23-4) Tuesday night.

Eight games will be played daily today, Tuesday and Wednesday. The championship will be decided Saturday night.

Williams Looks In Top Shape While Training At Own Pace

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Ted Williams has said this could be his last year in baseball if he fails to hit .300.

But if his appearance means anything, there's no need to get desperate about hiring a hall for a retirement banquet.

The great Boston outfielder, who has never hit worse than .317 in his major league career, checked in for spring training looking as though he had spent half the winter soaking in a fountain of youth.

He not only doesn't look 40 years old, but he apparently doesn't feel it, except maybe a little in the legs.

"I feel fine," he said between runs to the batting cage. "I had a bad ankle a year ago but it's not bothering me much now. I'm just a little stiff in the legs."

Does he have to work a lot harder now to get in shape than he did five or six years ago?

"Boy, I don't see how I could work any harder than I did then. I probably wouldn't even be able to work that hard. But it does take me a little longer now. I figure it should be about three weeks."

Williams said he played a little tennis in the winter and, as usual, did a lot of fishing.

Williams is training at his own pace. On a typical day, he may play a little pepper ball, take batting practice, shag some flies and do a little dogging. He hopes he won't have to play in any exhibition games right away.

As usual, he has two jobs in camp—getting in shape himself and acting as batting consultant to anybody who wants the service.

Drifters Clip A & P

A long jump shot by Jim Burks with three seconds left enabled Drifter's Car Club to whip A & P, 66-64, Friday night at East Junior High School. Burks led the winners with 28 points, while Ron Montgomery collected 24 for the losers. The A & P squad now has a 7-7 record.

Minnie Offers 'Cuban Alibi' For Lateness

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Minnie Minoso, fined $500 for reporting late to the Cleveland Indians' training camp, blamed his tardiness in part on Fidel Castro.

The Cleveland slugger, who played winter baseball in Cuba, said Cuba's rebel leader made him a lieutenant and sent him to Venezuela as a good will ambassador during the Caribbean series in Caracas.

"But you came back from there weeks ago," Tribe General Manager Frank Lane told him. "I saw your picture in the paper getting in shape by signing autographs."

Minoso then told of troubles in getting a visa for a Cuban player he had scouted and whom Lane wanted in this country.

"I promised I would and I didn't want to go back on my word," said Minoso. "Now maybe I'll turn in a $500 bill for expenses."

The 36-year-old outfielder, reportedly the highest paid man on the Tribe's roster, said he is in good shape and ready to play.

Manager Joe Gordon said he is not worried about Herb Score despite the battering Score received Saturday in three innings against the San Francisco Giants.

The Giants scored eight runs in those three innings. It was one of the worst beatings Score has suffered but he refused to quit until his three inning stint was finished.

"His arm is all right, and I know he'll come around," Gordon declared.

Racing Driver Killed When Car Flips Over

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — A sports car race had a tragic aftermath when a machine which already had completed its 15 laps, rolled over and killed its driver.

The victim was Donald Whitman Tann, 24, a Palm Beach Air Force base lieutenant whose home was Detroit.

Tann's Red Triumph flipped over off the course Sunday as he was taking his post-race lap, preparatory to coming to a halt.

Lloyd (Lucky) Casner of Miami won the 52.5-mile feature in 40 minutes, 55.8 seconds in a Ferrari Three-Liter Testa-Rossa.

The Chicago Cubs failed to hit a grand slam homer in 1958 but the team led the National League in four baggers with 182.

'Sweet 16' Remain In Regional Play

Northwestern of Wayne County, ruler of the Class A contingent and the only survivor of last year's four-team state tourney cast, puts its 23-2 record on the line against Midvale (22-1) at Canton Friday night. If the champs get by that one, they go against the winner of the Old Washington (27-1,-Braceville (25-2) contest in quest of a state tourney berth.

The 16 Class AA teams left of the 412 which started tournament play have a combined record of 301 victories and 53 losses—with East Tech, Elyria and Akron Central (19-0) boasting the only unsullied records.

The "sweet 16" in Class A, survivors of a starting field of 601, have won 354 and lost only 36. Four of them, Convoy-Union (26), Racine (25), Salem Local (25) and New Boston (22), are unbeaten. Racine and New Boston are in the four-team regional field at Athens.

Only Northwestern of the Class A group has ever won the state title. But in Class AA, in addition to East Tech, are seven - time champion Middletown, Columbus East, Springfield, New Philadelphia and Xenia, along with Sandusky St. Mary, former Class A king now graduated to the big league.

Regional games are scheduled Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the semi - finals — with all championship games Saturday as each class names four qualifiers for the state meet here March 20-21.

The qualifiers will meet at 11 a.m., Sunday, March 15, at Ohio Union on the Ohio State campus for the state pairings and to pick up ticket allotments for the climactic contests.

After Saturday's Loss To Bradley

Cincinnati Needs Victory Tonight To Gain Spot In NCAA Tournament

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who gets basketball's Oscar? The National Invitation Tournament or the NCAA Championships?

The question could be answered tonight when Oscar Robertson, the second straight year, leads the Cincinnati Bearcats against the St. Louis Billikens at Cincinnati.

If Cincinnati wins, the Bearcats will be in the NCAA title event as the Missouri Valley Conference representative with Texas Christian their first opponent at Lawrence, Kan., Friday. Bradley then would fill the last open spot in the 12-team NIT play opening at New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday.

Should St. Louis defeat Cincinnati, the question will be answered at Wichita, Kan., Wednesday with the Braves and Bearcats meeting in a playoff. Cincinnati has a 12-1 conference record and Bradley 12-2 after breaking even in a home-and-home series. St. Louis, already in the NIT, is third at 10-3.

The Missouri Valley Conference bracket is one of the two remaining spots to be filled before 23 teams start play in the NCAA title event. The other is the Border Conference for which New Mexico State and Arizona State University meet for the title tonight. The Border ended in a three-way deadlock but New Mexico eliminated Texas Western 65-48 in the first play-off game Saturday night.

Two brackets were filled in play-off games Saturday. Dartmouth edged Princeton 69-68 for the right to represent the Ivy League and Bowling Green beat Miami of Ohio 76-63 to get the nod from the Mid-American Conference.

Meantime, DePaul got the jump on the remainder of the NCAA championship field by turning back Portland 57-56 in a first round game between two at-large selections at Portland. The victory moved DePaul into the Lawrence regional, where the Demons will meet Kansas State, Big Eight champions, Friday.

Here's how other first round play shapes up in NCAA action:

Tuesday at New York—West Virginia vs. Dartmouth; Connecticut vs. Boston University; North Carolina vs. Navy. The winners join St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania in Charlotte, N.C., Friday and Saturday.

Tuesday at Lexington, Ky.—Eastern Kentucky vs. Louisville; Bowling Green at Marquette. The winners move on to Evanston, Ill., Friday and Saturday for the Mid-East regionals into which Kentucky and Michigan State drew a bye.

Wednesday at Tempe, Ariz., or State College, N.M. —Border Conference representative vs Idaho State. The winner takes on St. Mary's (Calif.) in one game and California meets Utah in the other Friday at San Francisco.

The four brackets for the Mid-West regional at Lawrence Friday and Saturday already have been filled. From the four regionals will come the winners for the semifinals at Lexington, Ky., March 20.

In the small college field, the NCAA narrowed its field to eight, the NAIA to 32 over the weekend. The eight NCAA small college teams clash at Evansville, Ind., Wednesday with the semifinals scheduled for Thursday and the finals Friday. The NAIA swings into action in Kansas City today with eight first round games on deck. The other eight, including defending champion Tennessee A&I, play their first round games Tuesday. Finals are Saturday night.

Pairings for the Evansville tournament are, North Carolina A&T vs American University, St. Michael's (Vt) vs Evansville, Hope vs Southwest Missouri and South Dakota State vs Los Angeles State.

Cincinnati could have settled the Missouri Valley question Saturday but fell before Bradley 84-66 as Robertson scored only 24 points. His average is 33.6.

North Carolina qualified for NCAA play Friday and then lost an 80-56 decision to North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament. N.C. State, however, is on probation and not eligible for the NCAA tourney.

Other entries in the NCAA' big college field ended their regular season in a blaze of glory. Michigan State thumped Iowa 84-74, Kansas State crushed Missouri 108-69 with Bob Boozer getting 32 points, California nipped Oregon State 55-52 and Utah turned back Colorado State University 68-61.

Giants Interested In Braves' Conley

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The word floating back and forth between the Arizona Cactus and the Florida citrus is that the San Francisco Giants could win the National League pennant this year if. . .

The if is another right-handed pitcher. His name is Gene Conley and at the moment he is performing for the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn., and carrying on side feud with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves don't like the idea of their chattel playing basketball when he could be working out with the club, for which he didn't win a game last year.

He is trade bait, and the Giants have admitted they've reached the talking stage of a deal for the lanky right-hander. But so far the asking price has been too high.

A case in point happened Sunday when the Cleveland Indians licked the Giants, 3-2, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Paul Giel forced in the winning run in the eighth inning by walking pitcher John Briggs. Vic Power, who had opened the inning with a triple, scored and that was the ball game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, another sleeper in the NL, scored their second victory over the champion Milwaukee Braves, a 2-1, decision at Bradentown, Fla. Bob Porterfield, Don Rowe and Laurin Pepper combined to hold the Braves to four hits. Both Pirate runs were unearned.

The world champion New York Yankees, held hitless for seven innings, outlasted the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in 11 innings at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Elsewhere on the exhibition circuit, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Kansas City A's, 3-2, in 14 innings at Miami; the Washington Senators eked out an 8-7 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in 11 innings at Lakeland, Fla.; the Boston Red Sox won 12-8 from the Chicago Cubs at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, at Clearwater, Fla., and the Chicago White Sox stopped the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3, at Tampa, Fla.

Ohio Colleges Near Windup

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's collegiate cage campaign was practically a matter of history today, and the final chapter of the 1959 saga was a dilly.

After a full season of maneuvering, the clubs were forced down to the wire to reach decisions in three conference races — and another hinges on a game tonight.

The big one tonight has Cincinnati's Bearcats hosting St. Louis, and the Queen City powerhouse must win to grab the undisputed Missouri Valley Conference crown. The Bearcats lost a chance to wrap it up Saturday as they lost to second-place Bradley 84-66 after leading by eight at halftime.

Should St. Louis upset the 'Cats, Bradley will share the laurels.

In other eye-catching action last week, Wittenberg handed Akron its first Ohio Conference defeat, 70-52, the Springfield Lutherans taking the championship on the sprawling 14-college circuit. A bid to the small college NCAA tourney went with the victory, but Wittenberg bowed out of that arena in the second game.

Miami, king of the rugged Mid-American Conference the last two years, and leader all the way this season, lost its last two games and allowed Bowling Green to ease in for half the championship. In a playoff for the NCAA berth which goes with the M-A title, Bowling Green was a convincing 76-63 victor on Dayton's neutral floor.

John Carroll snagged the Presidents' Conference championship in the final game Saturday, winding up with 10-1 to Washington and Jefferson's 9-1 record. Case, leader most of the season, finished third after losing several players in mid-year tests.

Following tonight's St. Louis-Cincinnati game, only Tuesday's Western Reserve at Fenn tilt, and a few tournament games, remain on the Buckeye agenda.

Second Spot Stirs Merry Scramble In Hockey League

By The Associated Press

With two weeks remaining in the regular National Hockey League schedule, a merry scramble is being set up for second place among the Chicago Black Hawks, Boston Bruins and New York Rangers.

It's like a game of musical chairs with the Stanley Cup playoffs ahead. Nobody wants third place and have to meet the champion Montreal Canadiens in the preliminary cup round. The second and fourth place teams meet in the other semifinal playoff.

The Black Hawks have dropped three straight games and their hold on second place is shaky. The Canadiens defeated Chicago 2 - 1 Sunday night on Phil Goyette's goal in the third period. The fourth place Rangers had drubbed Chicago 6-1 Saturday in a nationally televised game.

The Rangers kept up their hot pace Sunday night by downing the Detroit Red Wings 4-2, while third place Boston closed within two points of Chicago by edging the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3. On Saturday, Toronto turned back Boston 4-1 and Montreal drubbed Detroit 10-2.

In points, Chicago has 65, Boston 63 and New York 62.

NAIA Tourney Opens At Kansas City Floor

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The basketball tournament that offers a bit of everything — the National Intercollegiate (NAIA) — opens in Municipal Auditorium today.

Top seeded and champions the last two tournaments, Tennessee A&I of Nashville has a veteran squad headed by Dick Barnett, all-tournament player last year. The Tigers lost only one of 28 games this season. Their first round opponent will be Nebraska Wesleyan (23-4) Tuesday night.

Eight games will be played daily today, Tuesday and Wednesday. The championship will be decided Saturday night.

Williams Looks In Top Shape While Training At Own Pace

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Ted Williams has said this could be his last year in baseball if he fails to hit .300.

But if his appearance means anything, there's no need to get desperate about hiring a hall for a retirement banquet.

The great Boston outfielder, who has never hit worse than .317 in his major league career, checked in for spring training looking as though he had spent half the winter soaking in a fountain of youth.

He not only doesn't look 40 years old, but he apparently doesn't feel it, except maybe a little in the legs.

"I feel fine," he said between runs to the batting cage. "I had a bad ankle a year ago but it's not bothering me much now. I'm just a little stiff in the legs."

Does he have to work a lot harder now to get in shape than he did five or six years ago?

"Boy, I don't see how I could work any harder than I did then. I probably wouldn't even be able to work that hard. But it does take me a little longer now. I figure it should be about three weeks."

Williams said he played a little tennis in the winter and, as usual, did a lot of fishing.

Williams is training at his own pace. On a typical day, he may play a little pepper ball, take batting practice, shag some flies and do a little dogging. He hopes he won't have to play in any exhibition games right away.

As usual, he has two jobs in camp—getting in shape himself and acting as batting consultant to anybody who wants the service.

Minnie Offers 'Cuban Alibi' For Lateness

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Minnie Minoso, fined $500 for reporting late to the Cleveland Indians' training camp, blamed his tardiness in part on Fidel Castro.

The Cleveland slugger, who played winter baseball in Cuba, said Cuba's rebel leader made him a lieutenant and sent him to Venezuela as a good will ambassador during the Caribbean series in Caracas.

"But you came back from there weeks ago," Tribe General Manager Frank Lane told him. "I saw your picture in the paper getting in shape by signing autographs."

Minoso then told of troubles in getting a visa for a Cuban player he had scouted and whom Lane wanted in this country.

"I promised I would and I didn't want to go back on my word," said Minoso. "Now maybe I'll turn in a $500 bill for expenses."

The 36-year-old oufielder, reportedly the highest paid man on the Tribe's roster, said he is in good shape and ready to play.

Manager Joe Gordon said he is not worried about Herb Score despite the battering Score received Saturday in three innings against the San Francisco Giants.

The Giants scored eight runs in those three innings. It was one of the worst beatings Score has suffered but he refused to quit until his three inning stint was finished.

"His arm is all right, and I know he'll come around," Gordon declared.

Drifters Clip A & P

A long jump shot by Jim Burks with three seconds left enabled Drifter's Car Club to whip A & P, 66-64, Friday night at East Junior High School. Burks led the winners with 28 points, while Ron Montgomery collected 24 for the losers. The A & P squad now has a 7-7 record.

Racing Driver Killed When Car Flips Over

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — A sports car race had a tragic aftermath when a machine which already had completed its 15 laps, rolled over and killed its driver.

The victim was Donald Whitman Tann, 24, a Palm Beach Air Force base lieutenant whose home was Detroit.

Tann's Red Triumph flipped over off the course Sunday as he was taking his post-race lap, preparatory to coming to a halt.

Lloyd (Lucky) Casner of Miami won the 52.5-mile feature in 40 minutes, 55.8 seconds in a Ferrari Three-Liter Testa-Rossa.

The Chicago Cubs failed to hit a grand slam homer in 1958 but the team led the National League in four baggers with 182.

Convict Slain After Manhunt Over 3 States

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—A one-shot showdown with peace officers brought death to an Alabama convict at the end of one of the largest manhunts ever centered in the tri-state area of Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee.

Desperado William Smothers, 38 died in surgery at nearby Ft. Oglethorpe Hospital Saturday night a few hours after the police chief of this northwest Georgia mountain city sent a bullet into his shoulder.

Chief H. H. Hutchings and Sheriff Allison Blevens got on the convict's trail through a telephoned tip. They found him in a field near U.S. 11 in the Wildwood community, just south of the Tennessee line and about 20 miles southwest of Chattanooga.

"Smothers drew a gun from under his coat," Hutchings said, "and stuck it in the sheriff's face.

"I beat him to it. Before he could pull the trigger, I shot him."

The single shot climaxed a hunt that began Thursday after Smothers, serving six robbery sentences, launched his bid for freedom near Birmingham.

The desperado overpowered Alabama highway patrolman Otto Dees who was taking him from Kilby Prison at Montgomery to Birmingham to stand trial on a pistol possession charge.

Smothers forced Dees and the driver of the patrol car, convict trusty Ted Easley, to go to a house he picked at random. There he made the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Keith, provide food. After that he switched to the Keiths' car and took the four persons with him as hostages.

Fourteen hours later he released them unharmed on Sand Mountain near Flat Rock, Ala.

2nd Recent Gain Shown For County's Sales Tax

Showing the second recent gain, sales tax collections in Columbiana County hit $23,930 in the week ending Feb. 21, up $1,874 from the $22,076 recorded in the same week of 1958, State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson reported today at Columbus.

The collections stand at $1,178,026 since the start of the fiscal year last July 1, a drop of $97,063 from the $1,275,089 recorded in the same period during the preceding fiscal year.

On a statewide basis, the collections were up 34.8 per cent in the week ending Feb. 21, but the cumulative total for the fiscal year still is trailing by 3.2 per cent, Ferguson reported.

Convict Slain After Manhunt Over 3 States

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—A one-shot showdown with peace officers brought death to an Alabama convict at the end of one of the largest manhunts ever centered in the tri-state area of Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee.

Desperado William Smothers, 38 died in surgery at nearby Ft. Oglethorpe Hospital Saturday night a few hours after the police chief of this northwest Georgia mountain city sent a bullet into his shoulder.

Chief H. H. Hutchings and Sheriff Allison Blevens got on the convict's trail through a telephoned tip. They found him in a field near U.S. 11 in the Wildwood community, just south of the Tennessee line and about 20 miles southwest of Chattanooga.

"Smothers drew a gun from under his coat," Hutchings said, "and stuck it in the sheriff's face.

"I beat him to it. Before he could pull the trigger, I shot him."

The single shot climaxed a hunt that began Thursday after Smothers, serving six robbery sentences, launched his bid for freedom near Birmingham.

The desperado overpowered Alabama highway patrolman Otto Dees who was taking him from Kilby Prison at Montgomery to Birmingham to stand trial on a pistol possession charge.

Smothers forced Dees and the driver of the patrol car, convict trusty Ted Easley, to go to a house he picked at random. There he made the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Keith, provide food. After that he switched to the Keiths' car and took the four persons with him as hostages.

Fourteen hours later he released them unharmed on Sand Mountain near Flat Rock, Ala.

2nd Recent Gain Shown For County's Sales Tax

Showing the second recent gain, sales tax collections in Columbiana County hit $23,930 in the week ending Feb. 21, up $1,874 from the $22,076 recorded in the same week of 1958, State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson reported today at Columbus.

The collections stand at $1,178,026 since the start of the fiscal year last July 1, a drop of $97,063 from the $1,275,089 recorded in the same period during the preceding fiscal year.

On a statewide basis, the collections were up 34.8 per cent in the week ending Feb. 21, but the cumulative total for the fiscal year still is trailing by 3.2 per cent, Ferguson reported.

2 Men Given Penalties For Drunk Driving

Two city motorists, arrested virtually at the same time early Sunday on Webber Way for drunken driving, were fined and jailed today when they pleaded guilty before Judge George L. Brokaw in Municipal Court.

James L. Babb, 53, of 1606 Etruria St. and Raymond Adkins, 51, of 1066 Huston Ave. were fined $300 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had their operators' permits suspended for six months.

Patrolman W. E. Nott and E. R. Furgason said they saw Adkins headed east on a westbound lane on W. 8th St. and halted him at Dresden Ave. and Webber Way.

The officers observed his appearance, arrested him and placed him in the cruiser for a trip to police headquarters when they saw Babb, who cut to the left side of the traffic island at Dresden Ave. and Webber Way while making a left turn to head west. Both arrests were made about 1:30 a. m.

Clyde McVay, 21, of Lisbon R. D. 1 was fined a total of $35 and costs by Judge Brokaw on charges of using illegal mufflers and driving without a license. He was cited at 12:24 a. m. Sunday on W. 8th St., police said.

Daniel Bernard Manchas of Uniontown, Pa., was fined $10 and costs after being found guilty of driving on a temporary permit without being accompanied by a licensed driver. He was arrested at 1:45 a. m. today on E. 6th St., police said.

Four other motorists forfeited bonds and a Youngstown man failed to appear to answer to two charges.

George L. Bruggengate of Ft. Wayne, Ind., forfeited $15 on a charge of passing without the assured clear distance. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol Sunday afternoon on Route 30. Thomas R. Allen, 45, of Cleveland forfeited a $16 bond on a speeding charge after his arrest at 5:25 a. m. yesterday on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

George H. Hamilton, 1624 Commerce St., Wellsville and Tony Fortune of Irondale forfeited $16 each on speeding charges. Both were arrested Saturday night on W. 8th St., police said.

Stephen Szekely, 22, of Youngstown was due to appear on charges of crossing over a double yellow line and driving without an operator's permit but he failed to appear this morning. He was arrested at 12:58 a. m. yesterday on Dresden Ave.

Industrial Oil Spilled

Wreck Causes 'Big Mess'

A "gooey mess" that will require several hours to clean up resulted when a freight train struck the rear of a loaded oil tanker truck on the 18th St. crossing at Wellsville about 4 a. m. today.

Some 3,000-gallons of the heavy industrial fuel spilled from the rear tank of the double tandem rig when it overturned. The first tank and the tractor remained upright and were not damaged.

Here city workers and volunteer firemen spread sand over the oozing oil, which quickly flowed onto Main St. and then thickened to a tar-like consistency.

The west-bound freight barely caught the rear of the tanker, owned by E. Brooke Matlack of Ohio, Inc., police said. The truck had just been loaded at the Allied-Ashland Oil Co. bulk terminal at the lower end of Nevada St.

The oil is heated so that it can be loaded into the truck. It thickens as it cools. Firemen were called about 4:30 to try to flush away the mess, but water only hastened the cooling process.

The crossing was quickly covered and the oil continued to flow onto Main St., filling the gutters. Traffic is blocked over the crossing and on the immediate section of Main. Several trucks en route to and from the oil terminal were halted along the streets.

The crossing was reopened at 11 a. m.

Workers also tried to shovel the oil. Sand then was spread to soak up the fuel so that it can be removed.

The truck was driven by Denneth W. Cochemour of Cleveland. T. R. Edwards of Crestline was engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad train.

District Rally Held Here By Young Judaea Units

More than 70 young people attended a conference of regional Young Judaea here Friday through Sunday.

The services were followed by a lunch. A dance at night concluded the Saturday activities.

A bowling tourney was held Sunday morning, with trophies awarded Sylvia Stapen and Mel Strauss of the Erie chapter. This was followed by the closing banquet at the synagogue.

Adult leaders attending included Daniel Matlaw of Pittsburgh, executive director of the Western Pennsylvania Young Judea region; Mrs. Harry Henkin of Midland, Hadassah regional Youth Commission chairman; Bernard Penny of Washington, D.C., national vice president of Young Judaea, and Yankale Satati of Israel, representing the Jewish Agency there.

Honored guests at the Sunday banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jay of Cleveland, formerly of East Liverpool, for whose son the Herbert Jay chapter of East Liverpool was named.

Moe Goldberg accompanied the Erie delegation as chaperon.
